VOTE AGAINST REFUND HELPS HAUGEN BILL

Insurgents Supported Regulars to Avoid Delay in Acting for Relief

MAY GET CAL'S SUPPORT
If Both Houses Pass Measure
by Good Majority, President May Sign

BULLETIN
Washington, D. C.—(P)—Chairman Green of the house ways and means committee, has drafted a resolution which would give the committee authority to begin writing a new tax reduction bill during the coming summer recess of congress. The resolution was discussed at an executive committee meeting Monday, but action was deferred. More Democrats than Republicans were present at the meeting. The resolution would ask that members of the committee be given the right to sit as a commission on during the recess. This procedure was followed two years ago, when the present revenue law was written.

Washington—The era of good will continues—this time the Insurgent-Republicans are standing with the regular Republicans, but it all arises out of the original coalition between the supporters of the farm relief bill and the McFadden branch banking measure. Externally there was a good deal of surprise that the Insurgent-Republicans should have voted with the regulars to apply the existing treasury surplus toward public debt reduction. But inside the senate the move was logical because the Insurgent-Republicans are hoping to get a few regulars to vote for the McFadden bill. The measure involves an appropriation of $275,000,000. If the question of tax revision were reopened it would mean that not only would the treasury surplus disappear but that there might not be money enough to appropriate for farm relief.

INSURGENT-REPUBLICANS do not as a rule stand in the way of tax reduction for the masses but this time they saw that if the movement for tax revision were successful—and the fear was that the Insurgent-Republicans might influence the house—there would surely be an extra session and the farm relief proposal might be delayed and lost in the shuffle once more. The Insurgents are also hoping that when the McFadden bill comes to a vote for his signature. By voting with the regulars, the Insurgents have saved the administration from serious embarrassment, because while Mr. Coolidge favored a tax credit he did not want the whole revenue bill revised at this time. Final action will be taken later. The Insurgents are expected to sign the McFadden bill if it came to him from both houses with a substantial majority in each case. The view expressed is that the president will express his opposition to the principal but that he would sign it if he did not care to stand in the way of an experiment which by administrative study might prove feasible.

The underlying force at the present session of congress which explains many moves which have been made and are yet to be made is the desire of the western republicans to have enacted at once a farm relief bill of some kind. From the beginning, it has been inevitable that the farm group would place its proposal ahead of everything else and now as the voice is about to be taken there is not the slightest hesitancy on the part of the farm members of congress to place their colleagues by amendments or agreements known as "log-rolling" in order that the objective may be achieved.

There seems to be very little desire to force an extra session. The decision to permit the treasury to use the surplus to reduce the public debt is not at all displeasing to the president and Secretary Mellon. The original proposal of a tax credit was simply an effort to thwart the move of the democrats who saw the treasury surplus mounting and who, it was feared, would take the initiative if the president did not.

BROTHER WRESTS SKI CROWN FROM HAUGEN

Denver—(P)—Ski jumpers from Minnesota furnished the lights of the national championship meet and Olympic games trials on the Genesee course here Sunday. Lars Haugen of St. Paul, wrested the national championship from his brother Anders of Minneapolis, and Halvor Bjornsgaard, Red Wing, Minn., jumped third to the Haugen brothers. Lars Haugen was first in each jump with leaps of 122 and 125 feet, his form being excellent and his last jump especially beautiful. He was allotted 18.77 points out of a possible 20. Le Moine, Basen of Snowflake, Westby, Wis., easily won the intercollegiate event for the Spaulding trophy.

MAY DROP 'OBEY' FROM ENGLISH WEDDING RITES

London—(P)—Elimination of the word "obey" from the Church of England marriage service is one of the changes suggested by the house of bishops which has long been studying the revision of the Anglican book of common prayers. The bishops' proposals, made public Monday, also provide for the elimination of the word "endow" from the man's side of the service, substituting "and all my worldly goods I give thee" with these words.

TWO KILLED WHEN BOMB EXPLODES IN HOME IN KANSAS

Hold Husband for Questioning
—Blust Kills Children and Wounds Wife

Pittsburgh, Kas.—(P)—A dynamite bomb wrecked the home of Mrs. Earl Mayberry and killed her two children—a girl of ten and a boy of six, as they slept early Monday. Mrs. Mayberry was injured severely, but probably will recover. Mayberry, arrested soon after the explosion as he lay in bed in his room six blocks away was being questioned. He denied knowledge of the crime. He and his wife separated about a year ago and a suit for divorce filed by Mayberry is pending.

MAY HAVE 2 DIVISIONS FOR PRO FOOTBALL TEAMS

New York—(P)—Officials of the National Football league Sunday tentatively approved plans to divide the teams in the league into two divisions. Final action will be taken at a meeting in April. President Joseph E. Carr of Columbus, Ohio, announced. The teams in the tentative class A division of the league are New York, Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals, Detroit, Kansas City, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, Baltimore, Baltimore Colts, Providence, Los Angeles, Duluth and Green Bay. The class B teams are Akron, Dayton, Columbus, Canton, Louisville, Racine, Minneapolis, Hartford, Conn., and Hammond, Ind. President Carr and other officials were present.

ARREST DRUG COMPANY HEAD FOR SELLING BOOZE

Milwaukee—(P)—Herman W. Knopf, president of the Ready Drug Co., indicted by the grand jury here recently, was arrested Monday on the charge of selling whiskey. He was released on $500 bail and will be arraigned later. The indictment was the result of a raid on the store New Year's eve by federal prohibition agents. The agents claimed Knopf had procured prescriptions in large lots from about 15 doctors. Ten of the doctors signed waivers to their right to get any more blank prescriptions from the government.

VIROQUA SKI JUMPER WINS OCONOMOWOC MEET

Oconomowoc—(P)—Andrew Olson, Viroqua, former national amateur champion won the Class A event of the dedicatory ski meet here Sunday. The event, the first held on the new slide, attracted 1,500 spectators. Rudolph Gunderson of the Norge club, Chicago, captured honors in Class B. Reuben Ostrom of Westby was second and Knute Dahl of the University of Wisconsin, third.

DRY AGENTS HOLD MEET AT CHICAGO THIS WEEK

Chicago—(P)—Prohibition agents from the central enforcement zone, extending from Pittsburgh to Sioux City, Iowa, were here Monday to confer on general policies of administration and to study the methods of E. C. Yellowley, head of the liquor law enforcement in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. The meeting, called by Maurice Campbell, zone administrator will last throughout the week.

ALEXANDER SIGNS HIS CONTRACT WITH ST. LOUIS

Chicago—(P)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, star pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals and hero of the world series against the New York Yankees, Monday signed his contract and mailed it to St. Louis. Alexander, who returned his first contract, was given a substantial increase in the document, he signed.

SECOND TRIAL OF DAUGHERTY OPENS TODAY

Judge John C. Knox Succeeds
Judge Mack on Bench in Alien Property Case

New York—(P)—"Revelry," a novel of the capital in its social and political aspects was branded "insidious fiction" at the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general and Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian which began Monday.

The charges against Samuel Hopkins Adams' book were made by Harold Corbin, associate of Max D. Slater in the defense of Daugherty, and was concurred in by United States Attorney Buckner.

The prospective foreman of the jury, Walter L. Carey, said he had read the book. While the Daugherty case was not mentioned in the tome, Carey said under examination, he believed it put politics in a bad light.

"Well, that book is just fiction," Corbin said, "and a sort of fiction I would call it insidious." Turning to Buckner, Corbin asked: "Would you call it insidious?" Buckner said he would.

DELAY HEARING OF JUDGE AT MADISON

Chief Justice A. J. Vinje
Grants Stolen Extension
Until Friday

Madison—(P)—Judge O. A. Stolen of the Dane Superior court, who has been ordered to appear before the supreme court to show cause why he should not be disbarred as a practicing attorney in Wisconsin, was granted an extension of time from Tuesday until Friday by Chief Justice A. J. Vinje Monday. Proceedings were started against Stolen after the Dane County Bar association, through its grievance committee, filed charges with the higher court, alleging the judge borrowed money from residents of the Italian section, some of whom were said to be liquor law violators.

STOUGHTON MAN NAMED AIDE TO U. S. ATTORNEY

Madison—(P)—Harold E. Hanson, city attorney of Stoughton, was appointed assistant United States district attorney for the Western district of Wisconsin Monday. His appointment was made by Attorney General J. Sargent of Washington upon the recommendation of Stanley M. Ryan, United States district attorney for the same district. Mr. Hanson is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law school, and since 1922 has been practicing law in Stoughton, being elected city attorney in 1923. The new assistant district attorney began his duties simultaneously with the announcement of his appointment.

'FRIEND OF PRESIDENTS' DIES AT ILLINOIS HOME

Galena, Ill.—(P)—Mrs. J. G. Baker, 81-year-old, famed maker of ginger snaps and friend of presidents, died Sunday at her home here. Galena, the home of General U. S. Grant, mourned Monday for Mrs. Baker, who had achieved a national reputation and who had entertained four presidents and other statesmen at her home here.

2 BADGER WOMEN ENTER FLORIDA GOLF TOURNAMENT

St. Petersburg, Fla.—(P)—Two of Wisconsin's outstanding women golfers, Miss Frances Hladfield, Milwaukee, and Miss Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, former state champion, are entrants in the annual women's golf tournament at the Clearwater Club links. More than 100 entries have been received. The tournament will last five days.

Madison—(P)—Theodore Dammann, secretary of state, Monday advised police departments of the state through the press not to make further arrests of motorists lacking 1927 licenses until notified by the secretary of state's office.

LIKE FIRST TRIAL

Otherwise the courtroom, the one in which the first trial was held, seemed as if the first trial were still under way, the familiar faces of government attorneys, witnesses and reporters adding to the illusion that hours instead of months had elapsed since the first trial concluded in a disagreement.

MAY PASS RADIO BILL IN PRESENT SESSION

Washington, D. C.—(P)—The senate Monday refused to send the radio control bill back to conference. This was accepted by its proponents as making certain its passage at this session. The vote was 48 to 22 with party lines disregarded. It came on a motion by Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, to ask for a new conference with the house, which already has approved the conference report and to instruct the senate conferees to insist that the life of the legislation be limited to one year.

MOTHER AND 3 CHILDREN BURN TO DEATH IN HOME

Lima, Ohio—(P)—Mrs. Charles Reese and three of her children, Robert, 6, Dorothy, 4, and Thomas, 3, were burned to death early Monday morning in a fire which broke out in their home, 12 miles west of here. Martha, 2, escaped from the flames carrying a 2-year-old child with her.

Hunt Body Of Woman In Illinois Gang Warfare

Nashville, Ill.—(P)—One woman has been killed and possibly two others have fallen victims to recent gang warfare in southern Illinois, which has cost 13 lives.

Scrubby timber patches in Washington-co were searched Monday by organized bands in an attempt to clear up the mystery of the disappearance of Mrs. Ethel Price, wife of Lory Price, highway patrolman, who was missing since Saturday. Price and his wife were abducted Jan. 17. Relief was expressed that Price was killed because he knew "too much" of the activities of the rival Shelton and Birger gangsters, and authorities were convinced that Mrs. Price also had been slain.

MISSING STUDENT FOUND IN CHICAGO AFTER WEEK'S HUNT

Stevens Point—(P)—After a week's futile search by members of the faculty and students of Stevens Point Normal school, Thomas Kennedy, 19, the object of their hunt, has been found working in Chicago. His home is in Iron Mountain, Mich. Disappearance of the youth, a senior in the normal school, was solved Sunday when P. R. Kennedy, a brother, received a letter from him which explained his sudden departure. Kennedy wrote that having spent too much money he decided to go away and work. Relatives will attempt to induce him to return and complete his normal school course.

JUDGE GRAASS TO ADDRESS APPLETON BOYS ON FEB. 18

Green Bay Boys' Worker Will Appear at Chapel During Boys' Week

Judge Henry Graass, Green Bay, well known as a boys' worker, will be the principal speaker at the mass-meeting at the Lawrence Memorial chapel on Friday evening, Feb. 18, at which boy officers of Appleton will be inaugurated, according to plans completed Friday by the 37's Mens club, which is sponsoring the election of boy officers and Boys' Week at Appleton from Feb. 13 to 20.

J. L. Johns will act as master of ceremonies at the mass-meeting at 8 o'clock after the Father and Son banquets in various churches. The meeting is open to all men and boys of the city and fathers and sons are urged to attend it together.

Music will be furnished by the high school band under the direction of Carl McKee. Mayor A. C. Rule and other city officers will be present and to turn over their insignia to the boy officers after the inaugural address. The police and fire chiefs also will be on the platform and after the meeting they will take charge of the boy firemen and policemen and assign them to active duties. The boy officers will be in charge until Saturday evening. They will be advised in their work by the adult officers. Many boys are expected to "adopt" boys for their church or club programs and for the mass-meeting and boys who have no fathers also are to invite men to act in that capacity for the various events.

THRIFT ENROLLMENT BEST IN APPLETON

Local Schools Have Best Records in Cities of Similar Size

Appleton public schools led all other cities in the United States with a school enrollment of between 2,500 and 5,000 in the number of students registered in Thrift, Inc., school banking system, for the second week in January, according to the Thrift Almanac for February. Ninety-nine per cent of the students enrolled in the system here deposited money that week, which was the last report received by the publishers before the Almanac went to press. Five cities in the country had better records than Appleton, but all were of less population.

Cities in the same population class as Appleton which were first to fifth places were: Elgin, Ill., Marinette, Wis., and Iron Mountain, Mich., respectively. The cities ahead of Appleton all had 100 per cent records. They were: Pekin, Ill., which has a school population between 1,000 and 2,500, and the following with populations between 500 and 1,000: Lake Forest, Ill., Kapron, Ill., Lake Bluff, Ill., and Lake Zurich, Ill.

Appleton high school received fourth place among schools with an enrollment of 500 to 1,000. The school had a 99 per cent deposit record. Those with better records were Findlay, O., West Green Bay and Manitowoc. Fifth and sixth places were won by Beloit and Stevens Point high schools. This record shows that Wisconsin high schools rank high in Thrift, H. H. Holbe, principal of Appleton high school said.

Portable timepieces have been in use for 400 years.

Mont Blanc is not the highest peak in Europe. There are seven higher mountains on that continent.

Nor is the Danube the longest river in Europe. Nor the Rhine.

Lemberg was fought over by Russia and Austria, but it is not now in either country. Nor is it called Lemberg.

The geography of Europe as most of us learned it in school has been changed enormously, by war and by newer surveys and better map making.

Hence every home, office, and school will want the NEW MAP OF EUROPE, showing old and new boundaries, old and new spellings, latest data on areas, populations, debts, cities, rivers, mountains, auto, railroads, etc.

Vocal Apparatus Similar To Trombone, French Horn

Madison—(AP)—The boy whose voice is "changing" pipes one part of a sentence and thunders the next, in the same reason that an experienced trombone player suddenly slides from one octave to the next, according to Prof. Robert West of the department of speech at the University of Wisconsin.

Man's vocal apparatus is similar in function to a trombone or a French horn, Prof. West explains. In both horn-playing and speaking the fundamental sound is produced by two vibrating bands—the lips of the horn player, and the vocal cords of the speaker. Likewise in both, this fundamental sound places through resonators—man's pharynx, the tubes of the horn.

Around his 13th year, a boy acquired rather suddenly a new instrument for speaking. His vocal cords lengthen, while his pharynx remains about the same size. This new relaxation between length of vocal cords and size of pharynx is the secret of vocal difference in the two sexes, Prof. West said.

Prof. West's researches have convinced him that the vocal cords do not vibrate together, but alternately. A vibrator small enough in relation to the length of vibrating bands responds to both of them under the law of physics that the shorter the resonator the faster its period of response. Thus a man's pharynx amplifies the vibrations of both vocal cords, while a woman's, responding more slowly, dampens out the vibrations of one.

All at once, then, the boy has to learn how to manipulate the voice box and the resonating chambers in their new relation. His voice suddenly is capable of producing "open tones" separated by octaves just as a trombone does. The boy, like the trombone player, has to learn to control both key and register. He can control key more easily than register, and consequently unpredictable shifts of voice from upper to lower register or vice versa embarrass him.

Complete plans for the 1927 financial campaign of Appleton Boy Scout council were made at a meeting of a special committee Friday noon at the Conway hotel. Members of the committee were Frank Younger, Eric Lindberg, Dr. Charles Reinecke, Elmer Root, F. N. Belanger, Dr. G. W. Carlson, Ben Rohan, William Falatic, Mark Cathin, George H. Packard and P. O. Keicher, Valley Scout executive.

A careful study was made of the program previously prepared and suggested by C. M. Fennell, associate scout executive of Region 7, and Mr. Keicher, and the final dates for the campaign were ratified as from Sunday, Feb. 20 to Saturday, Feb. 26.

Frank Younger was appointed general chairman of the drive with F. N. Belanger and George Packard as assistants. The campaign executive committee will be Ben Rohan, Elmer Root, Eric Lindberg, William Falatic, Dr. G. W. Carlson, S. C. Rosebush, Hugh G. Corbett, John R. Riedl, the three chairmen, and members of the divisions. Mark Cathin has been named as one division major and the other still is to be selected.

The committee decided on a vigorous campaign with Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday as actual working days. The chairmen will meet at Scout headquarters at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and the executive committee will meet again Thursday noon, Feb. 16.

TWO DIVISIONS

Mark Cathin is major of the first division with F. W. Clippinger, Dr. W. J. Fraxley, David Smith, J. N. Fisher, W. F. McGowan and E. E. Cahall as team captains. In the second division H. Schell, H. DeBauter, H. Hellig, O. R. Kioehn, J. R. Whitman and W. Zwicker are captains, with a major yet to be chosen. The captains will pick their teams later.

The drive will open with a dinner for workers Monday noon or evening, Feb. 21. At the dinner instructions and prospect cards will be distributed and inspirational and pep talks will be given by experienced Scout leaders, such as F. T. Fultz, district commissioner at Milwaukee, and Mr. Fennell. Report meetings will be held at noon on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Each division will consist of five teams of a captain and five or six men, and a major, making ten teams of approximately 60 men in the drive. The executive committee members are representatives of the board of directors of the Lions club, of the local district Scout committee, the campaign chairmen and majors and a special committee on large and initial contributions. The goal for the Appleton district is $4,000 of which $3,000 is the local quota of the 1926 budget and $1,000 is the 1926 deficit. The goal for each team is $400.

A total of 1,200 prospect cards will be distributed, 600 of which will be of men who have previously contributed to Scouting and 600 will be new prospects. An attempt will be made to secure at least $1,500 before the drive opens from the larger contributors, factories and industries. This will be secured through the executive committee.

Members of the teams will solicit in pairs. Each team will take 100 prospect cards and will attempt to secure at least 50 subscriptions. Each man will try for at least 10 subscriptions, and each team will try for $400. Every prospect will be mailed a letter on Scouting's progress and needs together with a small circular or bulletin.

Duties of the drive committees as outlined at the meeting are:

Executive committee—to supervise the drive, secure workers, secure advance and special subscriptions, to make arrangements for the campaign and to appoint committees.

Finance committee—to check list of prospects and rate each as to the amount to be asked and to list amounts that prospects have previously given.

Publicity committee—to conduct a general publicity campaign from Jan. 24 to Feb. 6, an anniversary campaign from Feb. 6 to 12, an intensive campaign from Feb. 13 to 19.

Members of the teams will solicit in pairs. Each team will take 100 prospect cards and will attempt to secure at least 50 subscriptions. Each man will try for at least 10 subscriptions, and each team will try for $400. Every prospect will be mailed a letter on Scouting's progress and needs together with a small circular or bulletin.

Duties of the drive committees as outlined at the meeting are:

Executive committee—to supervise the drive, secure workers, secure advance and special subscriptions, to make arrangements for the campaign and to appoint committees.

Finance committee—to check list of prospects and rate each as to the amount to be asked and to list amounts that prospects have previously given.

Publicity committee—to conduct a general publicity campaign from Jan. 24 to Feb. 6, an anniversary campaign from Feb. 6 to 12, an intensive campaign from Feb. 13 to 19.

Members of the teams will solicit in pairs. Each team will take 100 prospect cards and will attempt to secure at least 50 subscriptions. Each man will try for at least 10 subscriptions, and each team will try for $400. Every prospect will be mailed a letter on Scouting's progress and needs together with a small circular or bulletin.

MASTER BUILDERS OPEN FIFTEENTH CONVENTION FEB. 9

Three-day Meeting Expected to Attract More Than 1,000 Contractors

Green Bay—(AP)—The fifteen annual Builders association which is expected to attract more than 1,000 building contractors from all parts of the state will open here Wednesday, Feb. 9. It is a three-day meeting.

A program arranged by officers of the organization and members of the local branch is built upon subjects connected with building and building construction. Branch organizations composed of members of the state association will also hold their annual meetings during the convention.

John H. Findorff, president of the association, will deliver his annual message in the afternoon session of the first day. Following the introduction of resolutions, William H. Spohn, Madison attorney will make an address on "The Contractor" and a discussion on the "Licensing of Contractors" will be presented by Martin Boldt of Appleton.

The morning session of Thursday will practically be taken up by reports of the association officers. Two discussions will be presented, one by A. L. Nussbaum, Madison, on the "Code of Ethics" and another by R. C. Ferge, Milwaukee, about "Overhead Expense."

The afternoon session will be featured by an address, "The Builders and the Wreckers" by Professor Silas Evans, president of Ripon college. Election and the selection of the 1927 convention city will follow a discussion on the "Cost Keeping Methods," by O. Lupinski, of Milwaukee, and another, "The Business Methods in Contracting," presented by L. W. Burch, of Madison.

The convention will adjourn Friday morning after reports of several committees. Members and their wives will visit the state institution and industrial plant on the closing day. The annual banquet and dance will be held on Thursday evening. A special program

LITTLE CHUTE RESIDENT GOES INTO BANKRUPTCY

A petition of bankruptcy was filed Saturday with C. E. Behnke, referee in bankruptcy, by William P. DeBruin, route 1, Little Chute. Mr. DeBruin listed his secured claims at $17,253.37 and his unsecured claims at $766.22. His assets are $17,329 of which he claims $150 as exempt. The first meeting of creditors will be held at Mr. Behnke's office in the Insurance building on Wednesday, Feb. 16.

APPLICATIONS FOR POOR AID DECREASE

Applications for aid from the city have materially decreased in the last week, according to E. G. Schueler, city poor commissioner. This probably is due to the fact that the weather has been much warmer during the past week, according to Mr. Schueler. In extreme cold weather the number of applications always doubles.

and a drive campaign from Feb. 20 to 26.

The campaign work of the publicity committee includes newspaper stories, posters and stickers, window displays, Scout demonstrations, speakers before clubs and letters to prospects.

The auditing committee is to receive, audit and record all subscriptions.

Each division will consist of five teams of a captain and five or six men, and a major, making ten teams of approximately 60 men in the drive.

The executive committee members are representatives of the board of directors of the Lions club, of the local district Scout committee, the campaign chairmen and majors and a special committee on large and initial contributions. The goal for the Appleton district is $4,000 of which $3,000 is the local quota of the 1926 budget and $1,000 is the 1926 deficit. The goal for each team is $400.

A total of 1,200 prospect cards will be distributed, 600 of which will be of men who have previously contributed to Scouting and 600 will be new prospects. An attempt will be made to secure at least $1,500 before the drive opens from the larger contributors, factories and industries. This will be secured through the executive committee.

Members of the teams will solicit in pairs. Each team will take 100 prospect cards and will attempt to secure at least 50 subscriptions. Each man will try for at least 10 subscriptions, and each team will try for $400. Every prospect will be mailed a letter on Scouting's progress and needs together with a small circular or bulletin.

WOMEN TO HOLD GUIDANCE MEET DURING MARCH

Miss M. Medora Roskilly, industrial secretary of the Racine Y. W. C. A., and Miss Grace A. Kelly, personnel director of the three Schuster stores in Milwaukee, will be the two principal speakers at the Vocational Guidance program on March 15 which is being sponsored by Appleton Business and Professional Women's club, Appleton Women's club recreational department, Appleton high school and Appleton Vocational school. Arrangements are being made by the committees in charge for possible round-table discussions of various businesses and professions.

Southern girls of the two schools will be guests of the business and professional women at a supper at Appleton Women's clubhouse before the speakers' program. Both out-of-town speakers will appear at the schools for speeches and conferences the next day.

Vocational guidance work is part of the national program of business and professional women's clubs and is being handled here by the educational committee of the local club of which Miss Mabel Sibley is chairman. The operation of Appleton Women's club and the schools is making it possible for the local business women to sponsor their extensive program.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sorrow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

500 English Bibles Are Sold Annually In City

Approximately 500 English Bibles are sold every year in Appleton and this is in spite of the supposed situation of heresy among the American people. Probably every Protestant family in the city has at least one Bible, one book dealer said. New homes are being established all of the time, and new Bibles are needed. Occasionally a Bible wears out, it was found, and new ones are bought.

A popular call is for a limp bound covered book of medium size for Sunday school children. But sizes vary from small editions to mammoth affairs ten or twelve inches long. The large pulp or "family" Bibles are seldom called for. The average price of the books sold here is about $1.50. Pocket size editions are not often sold, book dealers agreed, and the Bible does not supplant the Saturday Evening post and Liberty as street car reading matter. But nevertheless Bibles have not become as passe as it is generally believed.

Family sessions of scripture reading probably are not common today, but individual reading is practiced by many people, it is believed. Sales would indicate that there has been no radical change in the religious reading of Appleton people. A fairly regular selling has always been observed.

Many Bibles in foreign languages undoubtedly are sold in Appleton but bookstores do not ordinarily carry these.

The famous Gideon Bibles placed in hotel rooms sometimes disappear when too fervent religionists rent the rooms. But many of them that remain show frequent readings by the thumb marks and curled up corners.

MEET THIS WEEK TO DISCUSS WORK IN PARK

Improvements in Alicia park tourist grounds will be discussed at a meeting of the public grounds and buildings committee of the common council this week, according to Alderman Wenzel Hassman, chairman. At a recent meeting of the common council $10,000 was appropriated for improving the park.

These improvements will include new benches, chairs, tables, kitchen facilities, new rest rooms and signboards. It is hoped to start the work in spring. Other members of the committee are Alderman Mike Steinhauer and C. D. Thompson.

Audit Water Books
Auditing of the water department books was started last week by the Edwin A. Deltman company, certified public accountants. The work will take three or four more days. When it is completed the annual report of the department will be compiled by Fred Morris, secretary.

In the seventeenth and early eighteenth centuries family Bibles were kept in oak boxes kept especially for that purpose. Many of the boxes were elaborately carved.

SPORTS NEWS OF NEENAH AND MENASHA SOCIETY

HIGH SCHOOL LOSES 11 TO 8 GAME TO FOND DU LAC TEAM

Failure to Make Free Throws Loses Game for Jorgensen's Squad

Neenah—The first and second high school basketball teams were defeated Saturday evening at S. A. Cook armory by the first and second teams of the Fond du Lac high school. The first team was defeated by a score of 11 to 8 and the second team by a score of 27 and 17.

The first team lost by free throws, seven of which were missed. Neenah started with Tyrivier, Ehrigott, Scheller, Haase and Johnson in the lineup and Fond du Lac with Geibel, Hanson, Manus, Watson and Cookson. The first quarter was all Fond du Lac's making the four points on two free throws and a basket while Neenah failed to score. In the second quarter Geibel and Watson of Fond du Lac each tallied baskets. Mielke substituted for Ehrigott. Scheller and Tyrivier each made a basket and Haase a free throw in this quarter. He had ended 8 and 5.

At the beginning of the third quarter Tyrivier found the ring for two points and Manus made a free throw playing his first game. This quarter ended 9 and 7, still in Fond du Lac's favor.

Innes went into the game for Cookson at the start of the last period. Ehrigott went back to his original position, relieving Mielke and Scheller went back at center, relieving Pratt. Ehrigott got a free throw and Manus, at the very end of the game, made a basket, bringing the final score to 11 and 8.

SEEK NEW TRIAL IN NEENAH DAMAGE SUIT

Neenah—A motion for a new trial in the case of Miss Dodo Clark of Oshkosh against William Kellert of Neenah has been made in circuit court by attorneys for the defense. Judge Fred Beglinger, Saturday morning, heard arguments on the motions. The suit was brought by Miss Clark for damages for injuries received in an accident May 28, 1926. Mr. Hollister declared that testimony regarding the excessive speed of the defendant's car two miles from the place of collision on highway 26 should not have been admitted. He also claimed the damages granted for 33-1-3 per cent disability to Miss Clark's left arm was excessive.

TWO NEENAH MEN SENT TO COUNTY WORKHOUSE

Neenah—Two Neenah men were sentenced to 30 days each at the Winnebago workhouse in the justice court of Oscar Baldwin. Edward Wieckert was arrested Saturday night on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred by his wife who told her husband was causing a disturbance at the home. William Voltz, employed on the Arneemann Ice company delivery wagon, was arrested on complaint of the Arneemann company which charged him with collecting a sum of money for ice and which he did not turn over to the proprietors.

BASKETBALL TOURNEY WILL BE HELD SOON

Neenah—The Oshkosh district basketball tournament will be held March 20, 11 and 12 at the Oshkosh Normal gymnasium, according to announcement received Monday morning by Coach Ole Jorgensen of Neenah high school. SEEK TO SET ASIDE SPECIAL VERDICT IN DAMAGE SUIT

Defense Attorney Charges Improper Questioning by Martell Lawyer

Menasha—In circuit court at Oshkosh Saturday Judge Fred Beglinger heard arguments on a motion offer a special verdict in the case of Joseph A. Martell of Menasha in which Martell was awarded a verdict of $5,000 against Mrs. Emma Kutcher of Menasha in a $20,000 damage action, the result of an automobile accident. Harry V. Meissner asked that the verdict be set aside. W. B. Rubin represented Martell.

Mr. Meissner's first motion asked that the answer to the question asking Martell from contributory negligence be changed. He contended that the facts revealed in the testimony substantiated his claim that Martell was traveling at a high rate of speed when Mrs. Kutcher's car turned in front of his motorcycle at the corner of London-st and the Plank-rd.

His second motion for the setting aside of the verdict alleged that Mr. Rubin's questions to the jury panel, relating to insurance companies were prejudicial. Other motions were made on the ground that Mr. Rubin improperly questioned witnesses as to the existence of an insurance policy and made arguments to the jury on that basis. Mr. Meissner also claimed that Mr. Rubin had told the jury Mr. Martell would be forced to return to the city of Menasha whatever amount of compensation he received from them out of the amount of their award.

Mr. Rubin's reply to this pointed out that the witnesses in question, insurance agents, were introduced by Mr. Meissner himself for the purpose of impeaching Mr. Martell's testimony. He declared that he questioned them only for the purpose of showing the credibility of their testimony as the actual defendants in the action. Judge Beglinger also stated this to be the case and told Mr. Meissner he had opened the door.

Mr. Rubin further pointed out that Mr. Meissner had informed the jury that the policy was for $5,000 and had made the first mention of the fact that compensation had been paid to Mr. Martell by the city. He claimed his comments were in reply to this action. Judge Beglinger took the motions under advisement.

WISCONSIN WEATHER
Mostly cloudy and unsettled tonight and Tuesday; colder Tuesday, and in northwest portion tonight.

WEATHER CONDITIONS
High pressure over the central portion of the country this morning, with generally fair weather and moderate temperature in most sections. Some rain has fallen over portions of the southern states and light snows over the northeast. The pressure is still high over the far northwest, with moderate temperatures and mostly fair weather. A slight low pressure area seems to be forming in the conflicting stream of the two "highs," over the plain states. This distribution of the weather controls favors mostly cloudy and unsettled weather in this section tonight and Tuesday, with some light, scattered snow flurries, and with somewhat lower temperature Tuesday.

Contractors Meet

Final plans for attending the annual state convention of the Wisconsin Master Builders association at Green Bay from Wednesday through Friday this week, will be made at the weekly meeting of the local association at the Insurance building Tuesday night. LAWMAKER WANTS TO REAPPORTION FOR CONGRESSMEN

Expect Wisconsin Will Have Another Representative in Lower House

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin's eleven congressional districts may be reapportioned if the legislature approves the bill which will be offered this week by Assemblyman Edward F. Hilker of Racine. It is said that this change will increase the size of some of the congressional districts in northern and western Wisconsin and will virtually result in giving a new congressman to the area near Milwaukee.

Appointment of a committee of eleven members, seven assemblymen and four senators, is suggested to carry on the reapportionment. The legislative districts were reapportioned in 1921. There has been no reapportionment of congressional districts since 1911.

When the reapportionment of the congressional districts was considered in 1921 it was decided that the whole matter should be delayed. Compila-

MARQUETTE ENROLLS NEARLY 5,000 STUDENTS

Milwaukee—(AP)—With enrollment practically the same as that of the first semester, the general total being about 4,900 students, second semester classes have been resumed at Marquette university, and seniors especially already are looking toward their commencement day in June. The number of students who withdrew from the university because of low grades was made up by the new students permitted to register at the beginning of the second semester.

NEW SCHEME FOR SNOW REMOVAL

A new scheme to accomplish snow removal in Wisconsin during the winter is being worked out by Senator H. E. Joldt of Sheboygan Falls. Within a few days he will offer a bill in the upper house which provides that during the months of December, January, and February an additional one cent gas tax be levied. The additional amounts received to be used in paying for the cost of removing snow on the state trunk highways.

Under the present law a two cent gas tax is raised for highway purposes, but the Joldt plan is for an additional cent tax to pay for the expense of snow removal.

PLANS TO FORCE TAX CHANGES

Albert D. Bolens, editor of the Wisconsin Statesman of Port Washington, has started a campaign to force the legislature to take some action on taxation, because the impression exists about the statehouse that the legislature intends to take no action on tax matters and to adjourn early. Mr. Bolens has put in circulation 4,800 petitions calling for definite immediate action. When these petitions, which

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOLLIE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October, 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 15 years. The twins now growing to beautiful womanhood, have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSSELL and BETTY. JIM ELWELL, the son of the Elwells in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at the Battle of Sedan and at first is reported dead. Later he is identified as a New York hospital and his mother and father hasten to him to find that his memory and speech is gone.

Specialist despair of his recovery. The day before his parents are to take him home, Jim wanders away from his nurse, NELLIE DOWNING.

A frantic search is begun. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital, unconscious. His skull fractured, expected to die. He was hit by a truck.

The twins are in Indianapolis at the home of their uncle, JOHN CLAYTON, the mystery of their identity having been cleared up while Jim was in France. They make preparations for his homecoming, not knowing of the accident.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVI

"It's simply amazing to me that the boy is still alive," Dr. Lawson told Nurse Nellie Downing. "The famous specialist had spent two hours talking with the hospital doctors who had been looking after Jim Elwell and in studying the patient himself.

When he had finished his own examination, he said to Nellie Downing: "I'm glad you came to me. Will you take it upon yourself to keep me in touch with this case?"

She would the little nurse told him. Was there — did that mean there was some hope?

"I should have said," he remarked tersely, "that there was no hope of his living this long. It all goes to show you how profoundly ignorant we fellows are. I am becoming humble in my old age."

That afternoon Jack Nevin of the Planet called on Nellie at the Staten Island hospital.

"You know," he told her, with a quizzical smile, "I am a trifle disappointed."

Would he please explain himself? Nellie Downing's smile was quite charming to see.

"Well," he said, "I had thought I'd be able to say that I had lost my job because of you. But I've been thwarted in my hopes of martyrdom."

"Jack, will you please stop talking in crossword puzzles? What on earth do you mean?"

It seemed he explained, that with-holding good news stories from one's city desk because of the whims of pretty nurses was only a little less than a capital offense. "While not punishable by hanging, it—"

"Do you mean to say," she asked, "that I got you into trouble with your paper?"

"Not the least bit," he assured her, smiling. "And that's why I'm so disappointed. If I had been able to tell you that I had lost my job on your account you might have had an inkling of my devotion."

Nellie Downing blushed. "Talk sense, please."

"I went back to the office that night and handed in my resignation. The city editor wanted to know why and I told him I had thrown down the Planet on a good yarn because of the light that shone in a woman's eyes."

"What," he asked, "was the yarn?"

I told him and he swore. "Nevin," he told me, "you're something of a damn fool, but you're also something of a white man. That was a funny thing for a city editor to say, wasn't it?"

Nellie Downing said she was curious to know what the city editor had done about the resignation.

"Why, he tore it up," he also said that I wasn't the first young man he had seen do damn fool things over women."

"Why, how damn of you?"

"I beg your pardon," said Jack Nevin. "Of course, I'm taking advantage of you, telling you this, but you see the disappointment was so great — and I wanted an excuse for seeing you."

How he asked presently, was Jim Elwell? "If he dies, you know, I'm afraid there'll be no keeping the thing out of the papers."

Perhaps, she told him, she had been wrong in asking him to keep out of the story of the other night. "But his mother and father had been through so much. I'm afraid seeing the story in print would have made Mollie suffer horribly."

There has been, she added, no change in Jim Elwell's condition. "He hangs on the verge of death. Dr. Lawson says a feather might move the balance either way."

"Dr. Lawson? You mean the famous specialist — the brain surgeon? Is he in on this?"

"Yes. We had consulted him about Jim's case before this—this accident. He had given us absolutely no encouragement."

She was, she added, keeping him posted about Jim.

"And speaking about Jim Elwell," Nevin asked, "is my guess that you were—were particularly interested in the young man a good one?"

She turned away from him. When she finally swung around to face him her eyes were a little wet. "You know, Jack," she said softly, "I've been guilty of a very selfish thing."

That was all she would say to him.

Martha Dalton, though past sixty, was still sprightly and vigorous. She was on hand to meet the twins at the Camdenville station when they arrived from Indianapolis.

The cottage to which she had brought their mother on that October night nearly twenty years before had been swept and aired. Everything was spick and span about the premises. The unrouged cheeks of both girls were touched with a delicate flush of expectancy as they stepped up on the porch of the old home.

"Goodness gracious," Rusty exclaimed upon entering the sitting room as he compared her wrist watch with the clock on the wall. "It's only eleven-thirty. Seven long hours yet to wait before they'll get here—even if the train is on time."

"And we can't be sure it will be," her sister reminded her. "Why," she added, "didn't we think to bring my harp back with us? You know what Mollie said about how the sound of a harp affected Jim? How did we come to forget?"

"Oh well, the piano is still here," the other consoled her, "although I suppose it's terribly out of tune. 'Come on,' she added, 'let's go upstairs and see that everything's just right in Jim's room. Then we'll go out under the trees.'"

"Remember the day," Betty asked, "you knocked the champion of Missouri out with a croquet ball an' Jim got a black eye an' you put the beefsteak on it that Mollie was saving for breakfast?"

"And you let Mollie cook the beefsteak the next morning and helped eat it and never told her it had been a poultice on Jim's eye," supplemented Margaret with sinful delight. "Oh, sister, if Jim only gets his memory back what glorious times we'll have again!"

In their sudden exuberance over this possibility their dream of fame, to the voices of which they had been listening for several months now and more, were utterly forgotten. Who cared a rap about a voice and a pair of twinkling feet if Jim could come back to them?

Fortunate chance had worked for the Elwells when location for Camdenville's railroad station had been chosen for the property abutting Union Park. This was one of the prettiest spots in town and lay directly opposite the Elwell home.

All of Camdenville, it seemed to the twins when they looked across the street that evening just before the train time, had turned out to welcome Fred and Mollie and Jim. Everyone was in his best and it seemed to be the universal intent of the townsfolk to make their homecoming an occasion for joyous celebration.

The fact that Jim would remember none of them was unfortunate, of course, but they had mourned him a dead. And now he was coming back alive. That certainly was something.

Therefore everyone was glad and wanted everyone else to know. Everyone also, wanted a peek at the two girls who suddenly had become heiresses to millions.

Harvey Weir, whose flat feet had prevented him from going to France with Jim and who had been the Elwells' helper on many sidewalk jobs, was there with somewhat of a car of spirits aboard the lugger. To begin with, his spirits had been high; they had been augmented, in the meantime, with another kind. Harvey didn't care. He was there to extend Jim the glad hand. Harvey was something of a cut-up on occasions.

Camdenville's band, which played in the park of evenings, also was there on the platform waiting for the signal to crash into its welcoming air. Rusty and Betty, of course, held the position nearest the stopping point of the chair car.

Thus was the big stage set when the whistle of Number Six shrieked at Mollie's crossing. Thirty seconds later the Hoosier Cannonball slowed up for Camdenville.

This was the signal for the band and the crowd of welcoming citizens, old folks, little and big, lean and fat.

"The band blared forth lustily: 'Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here!'"

Some lines had been improvised by the best talent in town. These asked the world at large what the hell Jim Elwell cared. It was crude, but it was well meant.

The twins, their uncovered heads glinting in the rays of the setting sun, waited excitedly. Both knew—or thought they did—that Jim Elwell was going to be kissed right there in front of everybody.

If the whole world had been there it would have been just the same. Jim Elwell was going to be kissed—thoroughly.

The train came to a grinding stop and the blare of horns and the crowd's cheers. The steps of the chair car were within four feet of the twins. Three passengers alighted, a Chicago drummer, a farmer and the town's prettiest milliner, who asked mildly what the excitement was about.

That was all. The band stopped playing and the cheers suddenly subsided.

A chilled hush fell over the crowd. A held for a period of ten seconds until the train began to move again. Rusty

GOVERNMENT CAN STOP CITY FROM CLOSING BRIDGE

Seal on Structure Would Halt Appleton in Carrying Out Repairs

A government seal on the S. Oneida-st draw bridge. The city cannot close the draw bridge until some action has been taken which will prove to the government that Appleton really intends to construct a bridge that will meet traffic needs.

That is a paragraph that Appleton citizens might be reading within the next few years. It was disclosed Tuesday by E. F. Everett, United States engineer, that the government has the right to open the Oneida-st draw bridge and place a seal on it which will prevent the city from closing it until proper steps have been taken to get a new bridge.

For the last three years, according to Mr. Everett, this bridge has been causing the Fox river navigation companies considerable trouble. Originally the bridge was intended for horse drawn vehicles and it was not designed for the heavy motor vehicle traffic to which it is subjected.

Many times in the last three years and Betty looked at each other and their chins quivered.

Something had gone wrong. Jim wasn't there.

122 MEASLES CASES REPORTED IN JANUARY

A total of 122 cases of measles were reported during the month of January, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. This is an improvement over December when 226 cases were reported. Other cases were reported as follows: chicken pox, 15; whooping cough, 12; diphtheria, 1; small pox, 1; typhoid fever, 1.

Three homes were fumigated during month and 194 homes were released from quarantine or placards. Nine dairies were inspected and 41 samples of milk and cream were tested.

It has been necessary to hold up navigation on the river while the bridge was being repaired. The continual heavy traffic sets the supporting girders in such a manner that it is impossible to open the bridge until adjustments are made. Undoubtedly some complaints have been made to the government but it has been lenient and has not even issued a warning to the city as yet.

It is only as a very extreme measure that the government uses its right of seal, according to Mr. Everett, and there is only a slight possibility that such action will be taken here, although the possibility always exists.

According to Mr. Everett a new and substantial bridge here would cost approximately $100,000. Mayor A. C. Tule is of the opinion that it will be some years before the city will be financially able to consider such a project.

At the laboratory where Father John's Medicine is made, and these great buildings, by the way are devoted exclusively to the making of this one medicine, very high standards are maintained in every department.

The various ingredients are subjected to most exacting tests and are then prepared under the watchful eye of experts who have had years of experience in making what has come to be recognized as the greatest body builder.

Father John's Medicine is a scientific blending of cod liver oil with other ingredients by means of specially designed apparatus.

The preparation is untouched by human hands from the opening of the original containers until the bottle cap is sealed in place by automatic machines.

Years of study and research have been devoted to developing the process of compounding and, while the formula remains unchanged, its method of preparation has been so improved that it stands today as the finest blending of cod liver oil and other ingredients obtainable.

Father John's Medicine is particularly useful in building strength to ward off coughs and colds. Absolutely free from alcohol or dangerous drugs in any form.

REBUKE FOR MUCKRAKING.

The jury in the libel suit brought by Captain "Peter" Wright against Viscount Gladstone, returned a verdict for the defendant. Captain Wright in a recent book cast aspersions on the character of Gladstone's father, the great Victorian prime minister, whom he accused of moral delinquency with women. Lord Gladstone wrote a letter to Captain Wright denouncing him as a "liar, coward, and foul fellow." The trial was of dramatic social and political interest and attracted attention throughout the world. It was apparent from the evidence that Captain Wright's attack upon the morality of William Ewart Gladstone was based on the cheapest sort of club gossip. No testimony was produced to substantiate either the general accusations or any of the specific charges.

The verdict is what the public expected, for few men in British history have outwardly presented greater nobility of character, Christian devotion and loyalty to home. Furthermore, Mr. Gladstone's great ability, his lofty service in the cause of liberalism and his high contribution to England's progress all combine to make him an object of extraordinary public esteem and affection. True, many of the things Gladstone contended for were not realized in his day, but he laid the foundation for some of the most momentous political changes that have taken place in British history.

The world has been too ready to accept at face value writings of the kind produced by Captain Wright. There is undeniably a market for shady literature, and the more it has to deal with reality rather than fiction the more readily it seems to sell. It is an age of biographies and memoirs and of supposedly secret revelations concerning men and women of position. Undoubtedly much of the tainted literature is founded on fact, but a great deal of it is conceived out of the tales of scandal mongers. Captain Wright wrote a book to sell. He was not a searcher after the truth, nor was he a student. It was merely a frothy journalistic attempt. He has received the rebuke he richly deserved. Mr. Gladstone's character remains untarnished, but if the incident imposes greater restraint on a certain class of writers who deal too freely and recklessly with those in public life, it will have a more wholesome effect than the vindication of the late prime minister, who in reality needed no vindication.

RADIO BROADCASTING.

When the speech of President Calvin Coolidge is sent over the air on Washington's Birthday through 35 radio broadcasting stations, to the ears of millions of listeners throughout the United States and the world, it will mark the use of the largest number of stations in one chain ever recorded and it will illustrate the real value of radio broadcasting as applied to the public welfare.

Radio broadcasting has passed from the curiosity of scientists to the hobby of growing boys and to the service of mankind. Entertainment is a big feature of the service but it is not the finest feature. The real service rendered by radio broadcasting is in the dissemination of useful information in the form of talks, lectures, good music, addresses by men of prominence and other features that easily suggest themselves as one reviews the features on the average day's program from any good station.

By means of the chain system of radio broadcasting it is possible to cover the entire nation for such an important event as the president's message to congress or some other happening of like import to the whole nation.

When presidents talk nowadays they do not address a few who must then, by word of mouth, telegraph and printed page, pass the word along, but they address the nation as if it were one individual. When a point is to be stressed the import of voice inflection is carried unerringly to the furthest limits of the nation. It makes government, for instance, a much more personal matter with the citizens. It's as if the president were addressing each individual citizen, and results in a feeling of personal contact that will prove a great factor in promoting unity and understanding.

FOREIGN TRADE SERVICE.

Legislative recognition of the foreign service of the department of commerce, which has existed in fact, but without statutory basis for more than ten years, seems likely to be accomplished at last in the coming session of the senate by a bill "to establish in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce a foreign commerce service of the United States."

It will be recalled that Dr. Julius Klein, director of the bureau, recently emphasized such action as "possibly the most urgent need of the bureau at the present time," so that the service should be given a firm foundation in law, a definite organization and clearly indicated salaries, functions and prerogatives, with requisite legal authority vested in the persons charged with its direction.

Certainly the service this bureau has rendered to American commerce and to the nation at large is sufficient justification for such legislative action. The work of the trade service has served to provide intelligent expansions of markets for American goods and has fostered, as well, domestic trade. Much of the good work of the organization is in routine ways that never comes before the general public and thus only those intimately connected with trade and its problems know of the help this government bureau has rendered. It would seem that the bureau should be regularly recognized and given a status commensurate with its value to the nation.

THE MAN WHO DEPENDS ON NOBODY

One of the greatest men in the world is Isaac Criddle. His profession is "Just getting along." Mr. Criddle is one of the greatest men in the world because he is a man who depends on nobody.

Isaac Criddle is 77. For nearly half a century he has lived in a cramped English cottage, "two miles from anywhere, just getting along by himself." There are books in that cottage and fishing reels and traps and paintings which Isaac Criddle himself drew with no unsure hand.

Isaac Criddle is no hermit. He is no despoiler of the world of men. But for himself he had to learn how to depend on himself. Every chair and bed and bureau in Isaac Criddle's cottage was made by him. Every bite of food he tastes is cooked by himself. Every thought he had had, every winging urge sent out after the gleam of beauty, has come from himself with no help from the world of men who talk.

Every tree that spreads its shaggy boughs around Isaac Criddle's cottage has been planted by him. Every flower that hugs the shingles of the cottage has blossomed from a seed tucked warmly into the brown earth by Isaac Criddle.

Because Isaac Criddle is one of the world's greatest men, being a man who depends on nobody, he numbers the great of the earth as his friends.

Lloyd George often drives down this almost unknown road to see his friend and bring him books to read.

In the years ago Isaac Criddle was not a "man who depends on nobody." He depended on his wife, three sons and what he calls "his bonny daughter." Disease took one son. Flanders fields took the other. Another is in the army in far-away India, and the girl is in parts remote.

The wife is now only a memory, lying under banks of flowers which Isaac Criddle takes often to a grave.

Isaac Criddle has found that for him no dependency is best—that the only man who can really live is the man who lives from and with and by himself.

Is Isaac right?

How sleep the brave, who sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest!
When spring, with dewy fingers cold,
Returns to deck their halcyon mould,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod
Than fancy's feet have ever trod.

By fairy hands their knell is rung.
By forms unseen their dirge is sung:
Then Honor comes, a pilgrim gray,

ARE YOU GOOD HEARTED

Kindly tell me how to take care of a weak heart. (Miss V. L.)
Is there any cure for leakage of the heart? (Mrs. W. W.)

Why nothing about the prevention or cause of heart failure? It would seem from the daily papers that more people, especially men, die of heart disease or heart failure than from any other disease. (G. H. L.)

hundreds about heart disease, in (Twentieth Century) These three queries, chosen at random from hundreds about heart disease, indicate at least the general interest in the subject, if not the wide prevalence of heart disease. To me they indicate much more than that, for each query quoted suggests to me that the writer's condition, whether it be real heart disease or just a fancy of a morbid mind, is complicated with Billings complaint. Billings complaint is a chronic, insidious, progressive but not incurable malady which takes its name from the great philosopher who first recognized it and best described it. "The trouble with a lot of plain people," diagnosed Josh Billings, "is they know so many things which ain't so."

Right here may I not suggest that further perusal of this article or others about the heart, which will follow is not likely to prove worth while for the reader who thinks what I have just said is so castic, facetious or undignified. If I had all day to express the idea which is contained in the phrase "Billings complaint," and the whole page of this paper to spread it on, I might make just as much headway with the people who could have the patience to hear with me so long. But whether I could teach anything in that way or not, I dare say I would not seem so facetious, facetious, unsympathetic and ill natured as plodding readers find me.

Miss V. L. asks about "weak heart." That is a meaningless though very popular phrase. In most instances the notion that the heart is weak is without foundation in fact. Often the excuse of "weak heart" is used, consciously or unconsciously, as a ready-made excuse for hiding in when some task, duty or unpleasant endeavor is to be dodged. "Weak heart" is a favorite invention of the badly educated parent who pampers and coddles a growing daughter. Such pampering is not only physically harmful but morally harmful as well, for it is all too common to see the child so pampered sleaze upon the idea and more or less skillfully mimic the symptoms which the foolish parent has suggested as likely to occur from "weak heart." Thus easily evading the problems or difficulties which should be faced and mastered, "aside from actual heart disease, this popular fancy of muscular weakness, or functional insufficiency of the heart is a morbid imagination. If the child has any kind of heart disease the question of physical activity is strictly a medical one and no one except the child's own physician is competent to judge whether rest or exercise is better for the child at the moment. It is a question of degree, and that kind and how much the child should have. Nothing can be more injurious to a child's welfare than pampering and coddling by a misguided parent who just assumes the child's heart is weak.

Mrs. W. W. seeks a "cure" for leakage of the heart. We purpose to discuss leakage of the heart here presently, but before we go into that let me say that I don't know a cure for anything under the sun except taxes and in that case the remedy is much worse than the disease.

G. H. L. takes the daily papers too seriously; if he believes the stories about heart failures. Watch for the heart to heart talks which will appear here from time to time.

LOOKING BACKWARD

Monday, Feb. 9, 1927

A son was born that morning to Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Williams.

The new Appleton theatre, which had just been completed, was to give its opening performance that night. A stock company from Madison was to present "Nathan Hale." Officers of the Appleton Theatre Co. were: President, J. S. Van Nortwick; vice president, C. B. Price; secretary, J. A. Hawes; treasurer, John Conway; manager, Jack Heffler; musical director, P. A. Laffey; directors, C. F. Piester, J. S. Van Nortwick, Lamar Olmstead, J. J. Sherman, C. B. Price, John Conway and J. A. Hawes.

Eight young men of Lawrence university had organized a Gospel team which was to be similar in its purposes and work to the one from the Boston Theological school, the members of which had concluded a week of revival services at Lawrence. The Lawrence undergraduates were to hold Sunday revival services in neighboring towns throughout the rest of the winter.

A number of Appleton people attended a dinner party at Neenah the previous Saturday evening given by Mrs. Henry Smith.

Howard D. Reeve had accepted a position with the Norwich Union Fire Insurance Co. of New York, as examiner for the western department.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wentink left that morning for Eau Claire where they were to visit friends for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Jones left that morning for a several months trip to the south. They were to spend that time in Florida and St. Augustine.

A daughter was born the previous Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Schroeder of Greenville. Carlsson Schroeder, who was attending the University of Wisconsin, was visiting his parents on Union-st.

What This Country Needs is a Little Co-operation

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

"THE TIME OF MAN"

A first novel by a new writer — there are always possibilities of adventure in that, Elizabeth Madox Roberts appeared in the publishers lists only once before, with a book of childhood poems, "Under the Tree." When she jumped into the front rank of American novelists with her story, "The Time of Man," she achieved a feat that few can match.

The edition that I read was advertised as "the 4th thousand" and that is one of the most remarkable facts in recent American publishing history. For "The Time of Man" is not a dramatic story. In fact, for the first couple of hundred pages it is almost unendurably slow. Anyone who reads it for the story will quit long before the story begins. In the whole of the book's 332 pages there is no story of the kind that would stir the pulse of a flapper in a summer hammock. How 47,000 persons could be found in America who found "The Time of Man" exciting is a mystery.

As is the case with many great books, the story can be told in a sentence or two. Ellen Chesner, the chief character, settles as a little girl, with her roving parents, in the tobacco country of Kentucky. She works in the fields, feeds turkeys, dreams, goes to rural parties, falls in love with a worthless boy who kills her, falls in love later with a rough, half-faithful farmer, marries him, has children experiences joy and sorrow, sees her girlhood dreams vanish, lives them again in the lives of her children, and on the last page rides away from the tobacco country in a farm wagon with her little brood, for oldest girl about the age she herself was when she rode into the country.

That's all. Nothing very exciting, and probably many who read it will wonder what it's all about and why the book was written. Yet 47,000 have already bought it and probably many more will do so. Sherwood Anderson has said of it, "A wonderful performance. Very clear, fine and altogether charming. I am humble before it," and Carl Van Doren has called it "a beautiful work of art."

Two books' popularity, in incomprehensible to me; I should never have picked it as a best seller. But it is encouraging that so fine a novel as "The Time of Man" can have such a big sale. The author obviously did not aim for big sales; she was plain writing and she wanted to write regardless of elevation. Sincerity and artistic authenticity are written all over the story.

And the book accomplishes triumphantly one of the most difficult tasks that an author can undertake. To get into the skin of an uneducated, unsophisticated country girl and to make the reader feel that the girl's thoughts are authentic, to present her inner life from the inside and not patronizingly from the outside, to gloss over none of her crudenesses or the vulgarities of her surroundings and yet to display unconsciousness and sincerity that sympathy and that pity that is the accompaniment of all great art — to do that is to stage a triumph.

There are remarkably few writers in America who can describe peasant life here without either sentimentalism or patronage. Either they paint the country as an impossible Arcadia and rob it of all reality, or they describe it as a crude, vulgar, sweat-soaked scene where the people are but a little above the beasts of the field. In either case they try to portray the country from the outside.

Elizabeth Madox Roberts presents rural America from the inside. Her country people never pity themselves, never have a sense of being downtrodden. They live and love and struggle and taste victory or defeat naturally; they are not conscious of cramped lives and neither are they the contented puppets of the sentimentalists. You get the feeling, while reading the book, that their thoughts and motives are those of millions all over rural America.

And Ellen Chesner, the chief character, is all life in microcosm. She is a voiceless poet and her being, wonder at the incomprehensible vastness of human life is one with all the unanswered questions in the minds of all earth's millions — the "time of man," incomprehensible coming out of mystery and going into mystery.

QUEER QUIRKS OF NATURE

America's Only Marsupial

President, American Nature Ass'n.
If you should chance to meet this furry chap some time, high in the upper branches of a persimmon tree, and should make a threatening move in his direction, you would be surprised to see how quickly he would fawn death.

Then you would understand the origin and meaning of the time-honored phrase, "playing possum." Only in the southern states, where the "possum" is abundant, and where he is a favorite dish of the night-hunting darkies, when properly garnished with baked yams, they call this curious trick of his "sunning." Instead.

Men who have hunted the opossum for years declare there is only one occasion in its life when it will fail to snarl at the approach of an enemy. That is in the case of a mother "possum" with babies. She will defend them as valiantly as any wilderness mother.

The Opossum

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York—A modern apartment house is rising in New York's Chinatown.

Long doomed by the inroads of commercialism, this may be the final blow to the Chinatown that was. From Times Square, busses hung with Chinese lanterns still set forth many times a day, carrying their loads of tourists to the snake-like alleys. From the bus seats the barkers make promises of strange sights and adventures that end in a mad-orderer's jaunt through chow mein parlors and a public joss house. But the old-timers have long looked upon Chinatown as foredoomed.

The new apartment rises in "Happy Alley," paradoxically named block of sinister memories.

Of all the grisly gang wars to be chronicled, some of the worst began and ended in "Happy Alley." The underworld once bore its bloody brood there, sending them forth from darkened basements and gloomy buildings.

This was the stamping ground of Jack Silveco, and many of his mob.

But "Happy Alley" had a merry side as well. Its beer shops, sordid as perhaps some of them were in their day, held many an Irish clogger, dancing heartily to the strains of an Italian accordion.

At one time its population was almost entirely Irish and nobody seems to know its exact antiquity. One tenement, it is said, was built 120 years ago and there were Irish in "Happy Alley," no doubt, who numbered among the first of the Irish settlers in America.

And don't forget—in "Happy Alley" was "Nigger Mike's" now famous because of Irving Berlin's apprenticeship. It was there, you may recall, that Berlin got his start as a singing waiter.

When the Irish left the Italians and Chinese began to come in. Then the Italians went and left it almost entirely to the Orientals and gang wars were replaced by the hatchets of high-binders and later by the automatics of modern town warfare.

There is plenty for the tourist steers to tell about—say they take their chances through "Happy Alley." There is plenty to bring a sleep to visitors from snug farmtowns.

But this will not be easy when a modern apartment house rises. It is hard for the imagination to penetrate steel and stone and see the eerie, creepy scenes of another day.

The shrewd young Chinese have long since built their "noodle joints" into ornate show places for the tourists and many have made such comfortable fortunes that they have moved into Broadway, where every third corner now flaunts lanterns and gold signs, while jazzbands blare at noon hour and midnight alike.

In fact, it took the products of Chinatown, rather than Broadway, to popularize the noon time danceant.

Q. What is the highest rank of an officer in the Coast and Geodetic Survey? T. S. D.

A. The highest rank—which may be attained in this service is that of captain. This is also true of the Coast Guard Service.

Q. Does Harold Lloyd wear glasses all the time or only when making screen plays? H. C.

A. We are informed that Harold Lloyd wears no lenses in his glasses when he is acting, but merely wears the rims. When he is not upon the screen he does not wear glasses.

Q. What was the surplus of ordinary receipts over expenditures chargeable against ordinary receipts this year and in 1925? B. M.

A. For the fiscal year, June 30, 1926, the surplus was $377,767, $17; in 1925, $250,425.28.

Q. What was the Battle of Wounded Knee fought? H. V. P.

A. It occurred December 29, 1890.

MATT SCHMIDT & SON

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

C. OF C. LEARNS WHAT COUNTIES DO TO KEEP ROADS OPEN

Majority of Answers Indicate That Snow Removal Is Paying Proposition

Nine counties in Wisconsin have replied to letters sent by J. J. Plank, chairman of the highway committee of the chamber of commerce, asking what is being done in their territory to remove snow from main roads. The letters were sent out as the result of a meeting of Appleton citizens with the committee last week to look into the possibilities of getting Outagamie county to keep its roads open next winter. Several counties are doing nothing as counties, while others have appropriated from $8,000 to $10,500 to keep their important roads clear of snow. Portage county has no appropriation from its county board but keeps its roads open by public subscription. Waupaca county has appropriated $10,000. This was added to a surplus of $6,000. The county expects to have some of this left over for a start next year.

Calumet county does nothing, although steady complaints have been made for the last two years. Manitowish county has done nothing yet but the county highway committee is to ask the county board for an appropriation for 1927. Jefferson county uses trucks, snow fences, plows, scrapers and tractors. It carries on the work for about $2 a mile and will have a surplus at the end of the year. Outagamie county has appropriated $8,000 and keeps 300 miles of county and state trunk highways open.

Juneau county does nothing except what is done locally by business men. In Waupaca the county takes care of state trunk highways and the county trunk roads are handled by the towns. There is no appropriation by the county board but the highway commissioner is asked by the board to keep the roads open as long as possible with any money he can get from the county treasurer.

Ozaukee county has made a seven years study of snow removal and has had a plan in operation for the last six years. About 300 miles of road are kept open but the cost is as high as $40 a mile. At first the county had plenty of trouble opening roads because the farmers along the ways abused the workmen on the plows and tractors. Now the farmer complains to the county if the plow is 15 minutes behind the time scheduled for its appearance at a certain place. They realize that they can go in 15 minutes with a car where it took two hours with a horse and sleigh, Ozaukee officials said.

The characters of "The Green Hat" brought to life, will be enacted by a distinguished English company, including Emma Raff, Leonard Lord, Geraldine Browning, Craig Nelson, Margaret Temple, Wynne Dor, Robert Lucas, Arthur Metcalf, Paul Callan, Courtney Travers, Boyd Davis and several others.

ENTERTAINING PICTURE AT BIJOU THEATRE

With all candor it can be said that "Hotel Imperial" from Paris at the New Bijou three days starting today, is about one of the most entertaining pictures of its kind that has been seen here for some time. It is bright well directed, with a wonderful cast rich sets and many wholesome laughs.

In brief, the story is of an unsophisticated little cashier in a cloak and suit house who borrows one of the best dresses from the sample room, goes to theatre with some friends and there is discovered by her boss with the dress. She is given a letter for a position as model in another establishment, where she is hailed as the greatest Parisian model. This brings her into many adventures, chief among them being loved by the son of the proprietor, who after a courtship in which French grammars are used, discovers the deception and then the denouement.

In the cast are Bert Lytell, Margeline Day, who plays the title role, Eileen Percy, Ward Crane, Craufurd Kent, Arthur Hoyt and a host of other screen players whose portrayal of the various roles is of the best. The picture was well directed by Louis J. Gasnier.

A CERTIFICATE OF CHARACTER

Occasionally an employer tells me he doesn't require Fidelity Bonds from his employees because he doesn't want to "offend them."

That's a mistaken idea. Nowadays every right-thinking employer welcomes the opportunity of proving his ability to obtain a Fidelity Bond. He appreciates the fact that a Fidelity Bond is the most impressive testimonial of his character that he can possibly obtain.

It is a well-known fact that no good surety company will execute a bond for an employee whose past record is not clean. Consequently, refusal on the part of an employee to sign an application for a Fidelity Bond should serve as a danger signal to the employer.

With Mauritz Suller, Sweden's greatest director, behind the megaphone, "Hotel Imperial" conveys its foreign atmosphere to the screen in an unusually realistic manner while his conception of dramatic action values has resulted in a swift-moving story that rises from climax to climax.

THE GREEN HAT CAUSES MUCH DISCUSSION HERE

A choice of theatrical plans has been picked for our city when "The Green Hat" plays at Fischers Appleton Theatre Thursday night, Feb. 10, and ought to prove one of the most enjoyable offerings of the year.

"The Green Hat" has become the foremost theatrical topic of conversation of the fascination of its heroine, whose moral view point was the cause of much world-wide discussion when she first made her appearance in Michael Arlen's novel of the same name. Local theatregoers have long anticipated with the keenest pleasure the

By far the most important is not to neglect a cold, especially in a period of bodily depression and particularly by the aged or those not accustomed to exposure. If, therefore, you will keep your bodily resistance up, you lessen your liability to contract it."

PNEUMONIA IS MOST DEADLY THIS MONTH, HEALTH BOARD SAYS

Six Times as Many Fatalities in February as in Midsummer Period

Madison —(AP)— Pneumonia exacts its greatest toll in February, the state board of health reported Monday. Basing their conclusions on a compilation of deaths from the disease during the last decade, the report shows that the incidence months, January to April, bring the greatest death totals while the summer death rate is comparatively low.

"Over the last decade," the report said, "February showed the most pneumonia deaths, closely followed by January and March. In May the decline began, lasting until August, which was invariably the lowest of the year. February brought about six times as many pneumonia deaths as the midsummer period."

The records show Wisconsin's pneumonia mortality in 1926 was 2,357, as compared with 2,325 in 1925. "This annual figure," the board explained, "includes labor and undefined pneumonia. Pneumonia very commonly follows an ordinary cold, or bronchitis. It is much inclined to complicate influenza. It sometimes occurs after a child or depression following exposure, or where the body has a low resistance. It is for this reason that people of advanced age are most likely to acquire pneumonia."

WATCH YOUR HEALTH

"In the final analysis the ultimate cause of pneumonia has been found to be certain forms of germs life which are most likely to invade the non-resistant person. There is therefore an element of contagion in the disease. The form known as lobar pneumonia is reportable to the state board of health and the rules of that board require that cases be isolated. This precaution is likely to save some

GRAND FINALE

EMMA RAFF AND LEONARD LORD AS THEY APPEAR IN THE FINAL SCENE OF "THE GREEN HAT" WHICH IS BEING SHOWN THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 10 AT FISCHERS APPLETON THEATRE

MOORE TESTIFIES IN TRIAL AT GREEN BAY

Sgt. James R. Moore of the Appleton police department was one of three finger-print experts to testify last week at Green Bay at the trial of Peter McAllister, who was found guilty of burglary and sentenced to from a year to 18 months in Wisconsin state prison at Waupun. Officer Otto M. Cronce, in charge of finger-print work in the Green Bay police department, and J. Emory Temple of the Wisconsin state reformatory at Green Bay, were the other witnesses.

The conviction of McAllister, who was found guilty of burglarizing the Blackstone hotel soft drink parlor Jan. 2, was secured through identification of his fingerprints left upon glass in the rear door of the establishment. A scar on McAllister's finger, which tallied with a mark found on his fingerprints, was pointed out to the jury by Sgt. Moore.

It was the first time in the history of Green Bay courts that conviction of a criminal had been made by means of finger-print identification, according to Sgt. Moore.

TEN CONTRACTORS WILL BID ON NEW CHURCH

At least ten contractors from Green Bay, Oshkosh, Kaukauna, Appleton and other valley cities are expected to enter bids on the new combined Catholic church and school to be erected at the corner of N. Durkee and E. Summer streets. The building is expected to cost approximately $100,000. Plans and specifications have been issued to contractors in practically every valley city, according to E. A. Wetzel, architect. The contract is to be awarded shortly after Feb. 26, the final date for receiving bids. Thomas Flanagan, superintendent of the county asylum, Judge Theodore Berg and the Rev. M. A. Hauch, pastor of the new parish, are members of the committee which will award the contract.

Board Meeting
The official board of First Methodist church will hold a regular meeting in the John McNaughton room of the church at 7 o'clock Tuesday. Business of the church will be transacted.

STAGE AND SCREEN

NEGRI FILM DECLARED UNIQUE, REVOLUTIONARY

A "Different" picture, declared to contain more revolutionary forward steps in film production than any photoplay ever made, has reached the screen. It has already been proclaimed one of the great pictures of the year and created an international sensation. It is "Hotel Imperial," Pola Negri's new Paramount starring vehicle, which comes to Fischer's Appleton Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday.

This drama has won the distinction of being the best picture in which Pola Negri has ever appeared, not excluding "Passion" which brought her to the heights of film fame. But it is more than that. "Hotel Imperial" presents an entirely new conception of war. Pictorially, it sets a new standard. In addition, its treatment, method of character portrayal, and photographic effects achieved, are heralded as absolutely unique.

Adapted from a sensational novel by Lajos Biro, the story is laid in a hotel on the Austro-Russian frontier. The background is provided by the Russian invasion in 1915. It is the story of a chambermaid, Pola Negri, for whose love a fugitive Hungarian officer, James Hall, and a Russian general, George Siegmund, are rivals. Around this trio representative of the active military enemies and innocent noncombatants, there has woven a tremendously dramatic plot, vividly revealing the reactions of war on the souls and conduct of human beings caught in its whirlpool. Sweeping battle lines are suggested rather than pictured.

With Mauritz Suller, Sweden's greatest director, behind the megaphone, "Hotel Imperial" conveys its foreign atmosphere to the screen in an unusually realistic manner while his conception of dramatic action values has resulted in a swift-moving story that rises from climax to climax.

If Your Face Costs More Than Fifteen Dollars Per Year--Cast It Off!
Use As Much Care In Clothing The Face As You Do In Clothing The Body

CHICAGO—There's not a perfect face in America and there's no face worth having that should cost more than $15 a year in upkeep. This is the very professional judgment and estimate of one V. E. Meadows, captain and first aid to the hurry up squadrons which serve the goddess of pulchritude out of this city with a territory extending from coast to coast.

Until recently Meadows was an actor under the forms and contours of Hollywood. It was on his way to principally that movie face asquaring to the lights and camera of that cinema village either made the grade or was rejected.

Meadows has studied faces for 25 years. They have been his hobby and professional passion. And now Meadows has come into business for himself to solve the intricate wrinkles problems of dowager and debutante alike.

CALLS TO ALL STATES

He sallies forth out of here on some of the strangest missions imaginable. One call will take him to Maine to tone up the facial muscles of a proud mamma about to bring out her daughter at a fashionable party and another one will take him into Florida to point whiskers on the bald spots of a movie ape man's face.

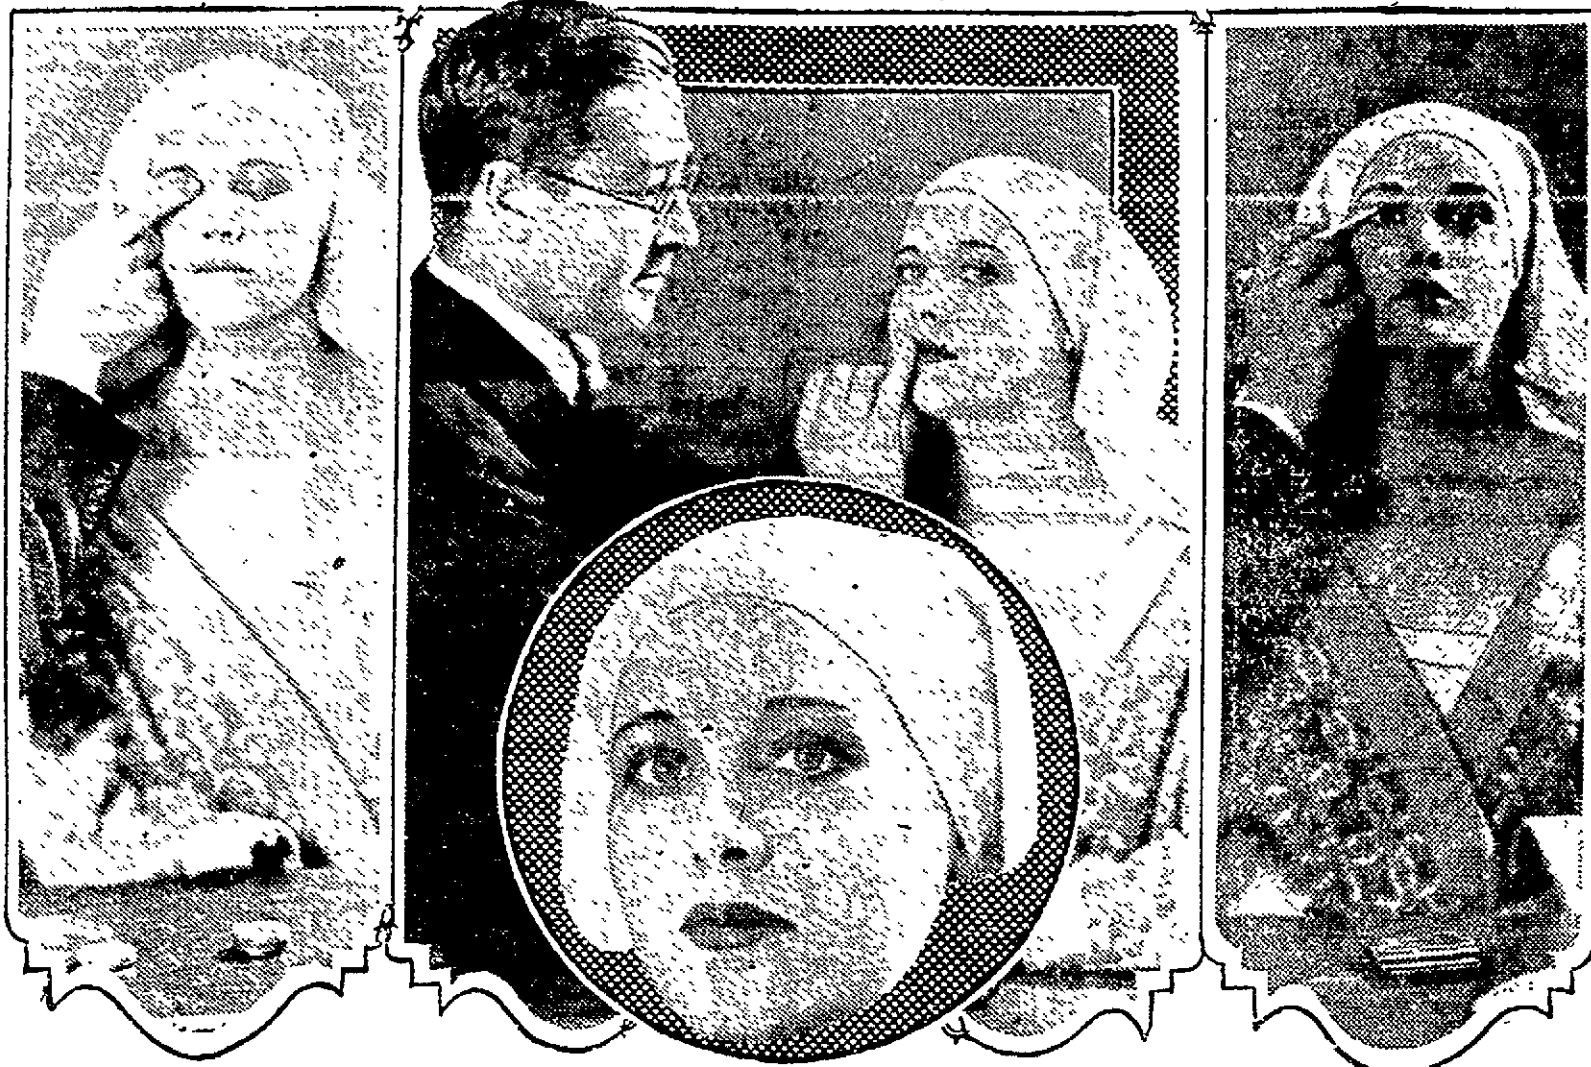

Meadows says that any aspirant after the kind of skin that loves to be touched can come into her own on a dime. The dime he prescribes shall be used for the purchase of ten cents worth of Epsom Salts. Mix three table spoons every night to two ounces of warm water and bathe the face in the solution.

BAD EATING IS CAUSE

This will remove wrinkles and eruptions from the common garden variety of affliction commonly known as blackheads to the ailments caused from injudicious eating. Meadows guarantees.

"Most American women look like swags on the way path when they emerge from the boudoir. Imagine themselves the epitome of beauty," he says.

"The whole fault lies in the indiscriminate use of cosmetics, too much cosmetics and not the right kind. No woman's face should cost her more than $15 a year at the outside and most of them can get along on $10 without even half trying.

"Women should remember that if they will only clothe their faces just as they clothe their bodies they won't have much trouble."

LEAVE FANCY STUFF ALONE

"And leave the fancy preparations alone. There is nothing in the world that can peel, tone or build up the face by external use with safety. Health is the foundation of all beauty and cleanliness—plenty of soap and water—is one of the best aids for promoting health that I know of."

"While it is true that there is no perfect face in America, yet every woman has her good and bad points of facial beauty. We call this the high spot. It may be a nose, her eyes, or even an ear. But whatever it is the woman should build around it, accentuate it and thus diminish her bad points by contrast."

PERFECT FACE OVAL

"The perfect face is a perfect oval but even natural perfection can be enhanced by just the proper care and treatment and this is how it is done: "First—bathe the face in good cold water and use the soap liberally. "Second—dry and apply a powder foundation. This is an oily base. Spread it evenly and thin. Don't wipe it off. "Third—pat on rouge. Color an area surrounding the high point of the face which is usually the cheekbones, about the size of a quarter. Spread the rouge with water above and below the high point of an area about the size of the palm of the hand. "Fourth—shadow the eye underneath with a shadow cream which has the same color as the color of the eye. "Fifth—pat on powder—don't rub it on. "Six—brush off powder with a camel's-hair brush. "Seventh—color the eyelashes with mascara. "Eighth—shape the eyebrow with eyebrow pencil. "Ninth—shape the lips. (Don't use lipstick because it has paraffin in it, not a harmful substance, but giving less perfect results. Use pomade instead.)

"Then—match the coloring of the neck and face, something which 90 per cent of all women neglect. The substance used for this purpose is called a whitener, but it is not white. It matches the color of the powder used."

Meadows, who has been retained here to pick and tend the faces of all players appearing in a well-known Chicago production, says that Esther Ralston, the movie star, has what comes nearest to being the most perfect face in America.

Esther uses a powder combination made of equal parts of the colors, cream, lavender and pink. This is because she has what is known as a "yellow come through." Meadows explains, is the dominating complexion hue or pigmentation. Dark types have yellow, and light types may run to mauves or purples. About 90 per cent of all women are yellow "come throughs," he says. "They should use a powder made up of a combination of cream, lavender, green, amber or yellow. Red heads take their powder cue not from their complexion or "come through" but from their hair. Brown is their requirement. Exceptionally light types run to pink, mauve, gray or shell pink combinations. And Meadows wants it emphatically understood that new faces for old are impossibilities. "All anyone can do is freshen up and hold back to imperfections as much as possible by showing up the good points in contrast," he says. "And, by all means clothe the face at all times. The lack of clothing that makes a face sick. And any face worth having that costs more than $15 a year to keep covered, just isn't worth keeping."

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

After Faith had been revived by the hot tea—she could not pretend even to nibble at the toast, which came in great, soggy wedges—Bob led her to where his car was parked near the courthouse. Although her whole body was trembling with weakness, and her mind registered almost nothing but a dull, unbelieving horror, she held her head high and even managed to smile slightly at the click-click of cameras varied her hair-dresser's moment of hers was recorded for the insatiably curious public.

"But I don't see," she protested weakly, tears beginning to run in a thin, unheeded stream down her white cheeks, now that they were safely away in Bob's car. "How the papers came out so—so soon."

Bob's face was drawn with fatigue and worry about the girl at his side, and about that other girl over in the county jail, who was undoubtedly aware now of the blow which had fallen upon her bright, proud head. But her voice was matter-of-fact, almost cheerful, as he answered: "Oh, that's easy to explain, darling. As soon as Banning sent out word to the waiting reporters that the grand jury had returned—a 'true bill' against Cherry and Chris, the reporters telephoned their city editors, and within a minute the extras were on the streets. I shouldn't have let you wait."

He reproached himself. "You couldn't have dragged me away," Faith told him simply. "Will they let me see Cherry—now? She'll need me, Bob. Oh, Cherry! Poor little Cherry!" She bowed her head on her trembling hands and let the tears trickle through her fingers.

"I don't know, dear, just what the district attorney will do now about visitors for Cherry. But I'll do my best to arrange things for you. You must go home now, though, and I'll telephone to Banning and try to make him be reasonable. You've got to rest, Faith, or you'll go absolutely to pieces."

"Who, Cherry?" Long panted. "Why, what? Did they indict her?" "Yes," Faith uttered the word faintly. "Oh, Dad, what's the matter?" She sprang out of the car and put her arms about the trembling, stooped, small body of her father.

"Drive to the hospital, quick as you can, Bob," Junior gasped. "We've just had a call—this minute. It's—It's Mother. She's—she's—" The boy's voice broke on a great, leaving sob. "Dead!" Faith's cold lips formed the word. It was her father who showed unexpected strength, his arms that held up her sagging body.

"Where are you going, Junior?" Faith gasped. "We can't see her now."

They had driven almost to Myrtle Street before Bob spoke again. "After all, darling, we had to expect this. I've tried to warn you that things looked black for Cherry. There's no use mincing words now. The grand jury could hardly do less than indict—under the circumstances. Now we must concentrate all our efforts on running down the only two clues we have to the real murderer. Have you seen or found any crumples yet, dear?" he rallied her with a smile which was infinitely tender.

"Thousands braced her miraculously. 'His words of people have been falsely accused of—of murder,' she nodded bravely. 'And after all, we have two clues. Will you see Stephen Churchill tonight?'"

"Of course," Bob reassured her. "Here we are. Why, here comes Long! I suppose they've heard. And your father! Brace up, dear, for their sakes."

"Hello, Bob?" Long Lane's hurtling run flung him against the car. "Don't kill your engine. Come on, Dad! Hurry!" He tore open the rear door of the sedan.

"Where are you going, Junior?" Faith gasped. "We can't see her now."

"Who, Cherry?" Long panted. "Why, what? Did they indict her?" "Yes," Faith uttered the word faintly. "Oh, Dad, what's the matter?" She sprang out of the car and put her arms about the trembling, stooped, small body of her father.

Local Man Says Dreco Woke His Liver Up From A Four Year Nap

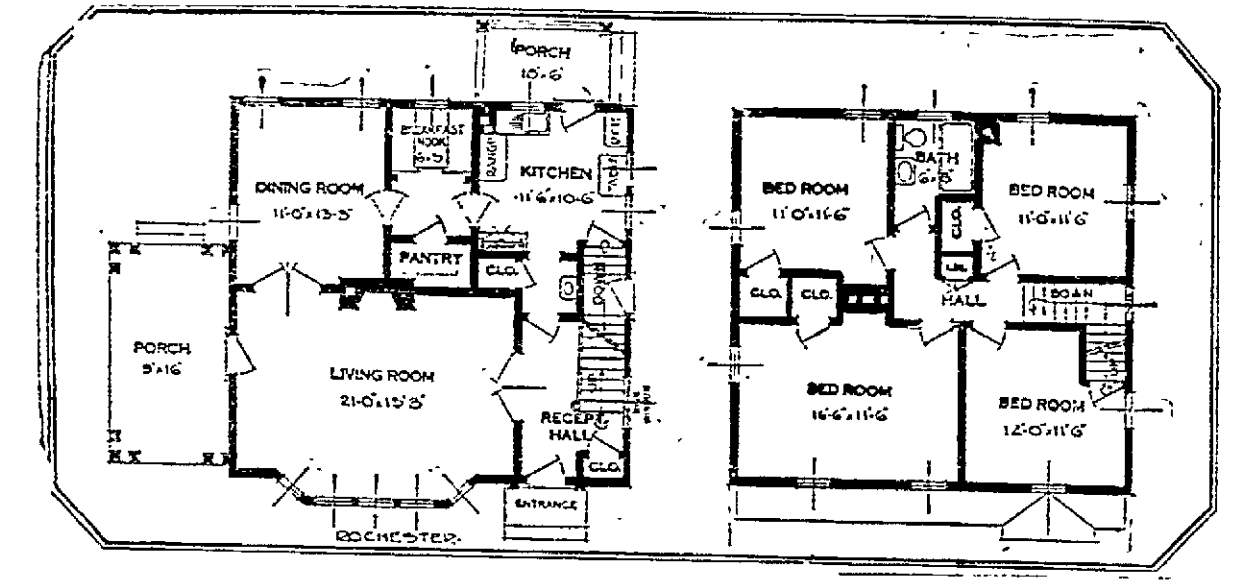

Stewart at Elks Club feels fine since this important organ is now working regularly.

"For the past four or five years my liver has been fast asleep and nothing I took seemed able to wake it up," said Mr. Roy E. Kelso, steward at the Elks Club, Appleton & Lawrence-St. city, in a recent talk with the Dreco man at Schantz Bros. Drug Store. "During this time I suffered greatly from constipation, indigestion, headaches and other complaints caused by a sluggish liver. My tongue was almost perfectly white, I had a stale, nasty taste in my mouth and my breath was so objectionable I was ashamed of it. I always felt tired and drowsy no matter how much sleep I got and my stomach seemed bloated and heavy all the time. I had been stung so many times by buying medicines which did me no good I was mighty slow in trying Dreco but I finally started on it and now I am glad to say my liver is awake and on the job again and I feel fine in every respect. I'm no longer troubled with constipation, headaches, or indigestion, my tongue has cleared up nicely, my breath is O. K. and the foul nasty taste has left my mouth. My appetite has improved, I sleep better and, in fact, feel better in every way."

To those persons who suffer from headaches, gastritis, nervousness, constipation, poor sleep, weak kidneys, lazy liver, a deranged stomach or impure slow, flowing blood, Dreco will prove a wonder to you. Try it and see how quick the results will come.

Mr. H. W. C. Marr Baker, the well-known expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Schantz Bros. Downtown Drug Store is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him.

ROCHESTER MODEL FEATURES FOUR BEDROOMS, A LARGE LIVING ROOM AND BREAKFAST NOOK

HERE is a roomy model called the Rochester. It can be built to cost approximately $5,500. Downstairs it has a fine big living room that is 21 by 15 feet and a dining room in the rear together in a neat conservation of space, with a kitchen, breakfast nook, pantry and roomy closet.

A reception hall and little closet in front for storage of visitors' wraps is another added feature that surprises you on entrance. Upstairs there are four bedrooms and a bath. All the bedrooms are of equal size with the exception of the right front room which is a trifle larger. None of the rooms are skimpily, as is often the case in most architects' plans trying to squeeze in another room to make the impression of a larger home.

DON'T BE AFRAID TO HELP NEEDY

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A MEMBER of a woman's club and discouraged trying to be both mother and father to their children and barely succeeding in keeping them alive. The chairman forgot parliamentary rules and entered into the debate without ceremony. "But we have homes," she said, "homes for orphans and destitute children."

"That is no answer to the problem," the speaker insisted quietly. "It is begging the question. Women want their children and have a right to them. And children have a right to their mothers, not half-dead, overworked, sick mothers, dying."

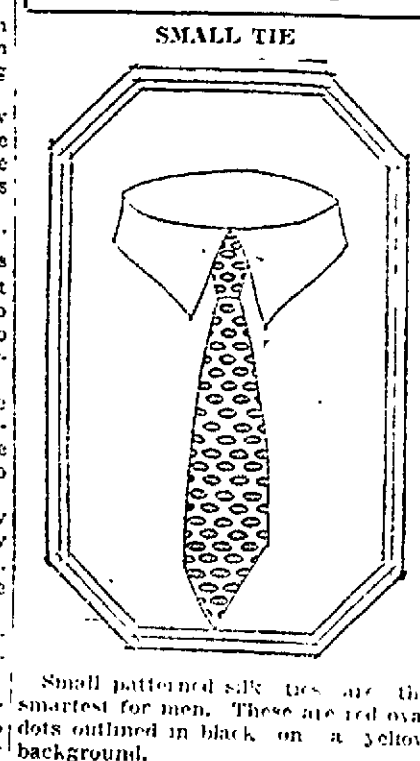

The chairman saw daylight. "I see what you mean," she cried. "A mother's pension law that would provide for destitute women with families to care for."

"It seems to me," was the reply "that that would not only be a very humane law, but economically wise. The children are the future of the country."

We put in a great deal of time in investigating things. Do we always investigate the right things?

Are we not, in our great fear of establishing a precedent, that tends to the dual system or paternalism, going to the other extreme and neglecting the needy?

THE TINYMITES

By Hal Cochran

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

HANG ON," said Scouty Tiny mite. "Cause if we do, we'll be all right. I hope this airship doesn't drop and drag us in the sea. I don't know where we're going now, but, surely, you will all allow that this is better than our boat. It seems that way to me."

What Scouty meant, by what he said was that they'd surely got through much faster on the airship than on any drifting ship. With little pleasures out at sea, he knew they all desired to be upon the dry land rather than a lonesome water strip. The rope that they were clinging to swung back and forth. It thrilled them, too, imagine flying on through space not knowing whither bound. The Tinies figured that, of course, the big balloon would be their source of after while arriving at some safe spot on the ground.

"Ah, this is luck," wee Clowny said. "I see dry land, far, far ahead. I guess that's where we're heading for. I wish they'd make more speed. My arms are sore as they can be from hanging to this rope. Oh, no, a real good rest and then some food is what I think I need."

The airship kept on going fast, right toward the land until at last, they heard the engine stop its hum. The ship began to glide. "Hurrah," said Copy. "I'll be glad to land, although the trip we've had is probably the finest trip that we have ever tried."

The Tinies knew they fell and landed smack upon the water down below.

Women Secure

against lost charm, this new way of solving oldest hygienic problem—offers true protection; discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. RUCKLAND Registered Nurse

SHEER gowns and ill-timed social or business demands hold no terror for the modern woman. The insecurity of the old-time "sanitary pad" has been ended.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way is now used by 8 in 10 better class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheers frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus stops all danger of offending.

Discards like tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX." Be sure to get the genuine.

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

175 Attend Program By Star League

About 175 persons attended the program given by the Star League of Appleton Sunday evening at the Emmanuel Evangelical church. The league is composed of the president and two representatives of each Christian Endeavor society in the city.

W. E. Smith of First Methodist church was the principal speaker on the program. His subject was Lessons from Great Men Born in February. The song service was led by Harold Finger of the Evangelical church with orchestra accompaniment. Roxley Patterson, Catherine Arnold and Robert Eads of First Baptist church gave the scripture readings. The quartet of the Baptist church, composed of Robert Potter, Merrill Latham, Harold Eads and Glen Opperman sang several selections. Wilmer Werner of the First Reformed church played a xylophone solo and Miss Annette Post of the Presbyterian church sang a selection.

Christian Endeavor societies from First Baptist, Emmanuel Evangelical, First Methodist, First Reformed, Memorial Presbyterian, First Congregational and German Methodist churches are represented in the league.

Four officers of the Delta chapter of the Employes Mutual benefit association attended the annual banquet given by The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Co. Saturday evening at Hotel Pfister in Milwaukee for all auxiliaries of the E. M. B. A. in Wisconsin. Mrs. Alex Pierre, president of the local chapter; Mrs. Matt Bauer, vice president; Mrs. Gordon Larson, secretary and Mrs. Homer Fumel, treasurer, were the Appleton women who attended.

FOUR ATTEND MEETING FOR E. M. B. A. WOMEN

Peter McKay, president of the E. M. B. A. and William A. Jackson, vice president of the E. M. B. A. were the principal speakers. The president of each chapter of the E. M. B. A. at the meeting and the president of the governing body, also gave short talks. Mrs. Pierre told of the activities of the local auxiliary, which was organized last October. About 450 members including women from Kaukauna, Racine, Waukesha, Watertown, Whitewater, Milwaukee and Appleton, were present at the banquet.

The governing body of E. M. B. A. will entertain incoming and outgoing directors and presidents of all chapters in the state at a luncheon Tuesday at Elk club at Milwaukee. A business meeting is scheduled for 11 o'clock to precede the luncheon. Mrs. L. W. Stark, director of the local auxiliary and Mrs. Pierre, president, are planning to attend.

SECOND SEMESTER GETS STARTED AT U. OF W.

Madison—(P)—Second semester classes at the University of Wisconsin open Monday with the 93 departments of instruction offering $88 courses in 1,846 different sections or classes.

Besides 15 faculty members who began leaves of absence of two semesters' duration at the start of the fall semester, seven others start on semester leaves at the beginning of the second term. The resignation of one, Prof. E. J. Kraus of the department of botany, becomes effective. Those on leave for the second semester are:

P. G. Hubbard, professor of English; E. B. McGilvary, professor of philosophy; M. C. Otto, professor of philosophy; G. S. Bryan, associate professor of botany; R. J. Roark, associate professor of mechanics; W. R. Sharp, assistant professor of law.

To fill vacancies caused by leaves and resignations, 10 new members joined the faculty. They are:

H. B. Alexander, acting professor of philosophy; P. DeBye, acting professor of mathematical physics; Scott Mackey, associate professor of metallurgy; C. A. Herrick, assistant professor of zoology; J. L. Baldwin, assistant professor of agricultural bacteriology; C. H. Otis, acting assistant professor of botany; A. M. Johnson and F. P. Dale, instructors in law; Paul Norton, instructor in mechanics.

YOUTHS DISAPPOINTED IN BUSINESS VENTURE

The business venture of two Kaukauna youths, undertaken several months ago, has come to an abrupt ending, and they are thankful they emerged from their experience as fortunately as they did.

Some months ago they became associated with Arthur L. Grayson, Chicago, in the Houdini Radio Control Co. They sold appliances for operating automobiles by radio.

Falling to receive any share of their profits after several weeks employment, they became suspicious of their partner, and returned to Chicago to demand payment. Their demand refused, they took a quantity of stock with them when they left, according to police.

Last Saturday George T. Prim, chief of police, received word from the Chicago police department to arrest the youths if found in this vicinity. They were located in Kaukauna, their home city, but were released after questioning, and after they had turned over their radio supplies to authorities.

In a later telephone conversation with Chicago police, Chief Prim learned that Grayson, who had gone under other names during the business career, was being thoroughly questioned by police in that city in regard to his recent activities.

LAWRENCE CAGEMEN BATTLE RIPPON FIVE MONDAY NIGHT

Freshmen Are Eligible As Blues Invade Ripon For Game In Two Loops

Christoph May Use Yearlings in Effort to Beat Strong Rivals

W-I CONFERENCE
Carroll	2 1 1.000
Ripon	1 0 1.000
LAWRENCE	1 1 .500
Lake Forest	0 3 .000

Strengthened by the addition of members of the freshman basketball squad, who became eligible Friday evening with the close of the first semester, Coach George Christoph's Lawrence college cage five invades Ripon Monday evening for a game which counts both in Midwest conference and Wisconsin-Illinois conference circles. The Red is tied with Carroll for the W-I lead with no defeats and the Christophmen are determined to pull them down a notch and advance once more to halting distance of Carroll, which then will be alone in the lead.

In the larger conference the Blue has a perfect mark, but has beaten only Beloit, the dormant of all-Midwest squads, a team beaten nine straight in the loop.

Ripon has whipped two Midwest squads and lost to another pair, to give it a 2-2-5 mark. But it has had more experience against strong foes than Lawrence. In its large gym it is a mighty hard team to whip. A Red win will advance that crew a notch and place it close on the heels of the leaders, while showing Lawrence all the way down to sixth.

Leading the Ripon team are Reid and Halverson, forwards; Lohr, center, and Gro and big Hauser, at guards. Every man but Lohr is a two-year vet at the game at Ripon and the speedy forward has fitted into the machine so well that he has been the Red's high point man in practical every game this year, showing an eagle eye for the draped hoop. In fact he has averaged four baskets a game, even in defeat. Ripon is a slight favorite with wins over Oshkosh Normal, Beloit, Lake Forest and Knox. The Blue has beaten the first three, but has played only one Midwest game as against four for Ripon and lost an important W-I game to Carroll last week, 26-17, Ripon on lost to Monmouth and Hamilton.

Among the freshmen who may see service Monday night are St. Mitchell, Janky Kaukauna youth, a center and Remmel, old Menasha high forward. Center is a weak spot in the Blue lineup at present. Other frosh who might look good in the varsity suits are Schneller, Pierce, Farwell, Jackolin, Hoffman and Slavik.

BELOIT CAGE SQUAD LOSES 11TH STRAIGHT

Beloit—Carleton defeated Beloit here Saturday night, 33 to 14, making nine Midwest and eleven straight losses for the local five. Nordly, star Carleton center, got three baskets and eight free throws for as many points as Beloit's entire team, and Addington, visiting forward, starred with five baskets.

YALE ATHLETE MAKES 13 FEET IN VAULTS

Boston Mass. —(AP)—The scaling of 13 feet 7-8 inches by Sabir Carr, Yale junior, for a new world indoor pole vault record at the Boston A. A. games Saturday night gives the United States five athletes who have now conquered 13 feet, once believed the pole vaulters' ceiling. The five, Carr, Paul Harrington, of the B. A. A., "Laddie" Myers of Chicago, Lee Barnes and Glenn Graham of California, all are available for Uncle Sam's next Olympic invasion.

Old Holy Cross Star Gets Fourth Chance In Majors

Sometimes they are plucked for the majors before they are ready which probably is the cause with Arnold John Stutz, recently drafted by the Brooklyn Superbas. It will be his fourth big league trial. Stutz, it will be recalled, was a 21-year-old phenom with the New York Giants in the spring of 1919. With Holy Cross he attracted the attention of all the major league scouts. As frequently is the case, the Giants put out the biggest bonus and Stutz became a member of McGraw's champions. But McGraw is a manager who desires immediate delivery. Stutz was not yet ripe for the big show, as a brief trial in the spring of 1920 convinced McGraw that Holy Cross youngster was several years away. When the waiver signal was sent out on the collegian, the Red Sox claimed him, but the American Leaguers reached the same decision as McGraw, not ready, so the idol of Holy Cross was dropped to the minors. Stutz was placed with Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast League. He played in 101 games in 1920. The following season he finished with an average of .310 for 153 games and stole 52 bases. He was again recommended as big league material. The Cubs paid the price for Stutz. He had three years of it in the National League but his light hitting again relegated him to the minors. Another trip to Los Angeles for John Arnold—two more years and he returns to the Brooklyn Superbas via draft. Stutz has drawn high praise from Manager Marty Krug, who says: "He's the equal of Tris Speaker as an outfielder. I can say no more."

MAROONS LOSE LONG GAME TO RIVAL SIX

Independent Hockey Squad Beats Leaguers, 1-0, in 3 Extra Periods

Playing three overtime periods, the Appleton Independents defeated the Schlatter-Galpin Maroons, local Valley loop entry, 1-0, Sunday afternoon in one of the hardest-fought hockey matches ever staged in the city. The game ended in a scoreless tie as did the first two extra periods. In the third, McHugh shoved the winning score into the net. The rough ice spoiled many shots. The Independents kept the puck in Maroon territory most of the game. Al Gosha played the best game for the losers.

Lineups: Independents—McHugh, center; Ed Helms and F. Buss, wings; A. Buss and Ballheim, defenses; Forster, goaltender; L. Krueger substituted for A. Buss.

Maroons—Schultz, center; B. Bell and W. Bell, wings; Nespor and Gosha, defenses; Prasher, goaltender.

BIG LEAGUE CLUBS SHIFT 2ND BASEMEN

Wholesale Shift of Star Middle Sackers Starts as Eddie Leaves Sox

New York—Since the close of the 1926 baseball season there has been a wholesale shift of second basemen in the majors. Many of the stars of the game have been affected.

Most important of the changes, of course, was the deal that sent Rogers Hornsby to New York and Frankie Frisch to the St. Louis Cardinals. They are rated the two leaders in the National.

Eddie Collins, conceded the greatest second sacker of all time, now well into the peak of his game, was given his unconditional release by Chicago, only to sign with Connie Mack, the man who gave him his start.

Marty McManus, a player with great possibilities, who has not been at his best for several years, goes to Detroit, where he should star for George A. Harris. Frank O'Rourke shifts to St. Louis in part exchange for McManus.

The veteran Aaron Ward of the New York Yankees goes to Chicago, while Ray Morehart, of the White Sox, changes his residence to Gotham. He will be used in substitute roles by Huggins.

Bill Vambasgus, after years of service in the majors with Cleveland, Boston and Philadelphia, passes to the minors.

The year 1926 will go down in baseball history as a mighty unusual one for major league second basemen.

NEW LONDON CAGE FIVE DESIRES VALLEY GAMES

New London—Playing a good game of basketball on the small Lebanon Parish floor, but having hard luck on shots, the St. Johns team received a 31-25 drubbing from the Lebanon five. The St. Johns team desires games with any church or Boy Scout team of Appleton or the Fox river valley. For games write Manager Francis Griswold, New London. The team averages 135 pounds.

SHEIKS WIN OVERTIME GAME IN 4TH PERIOD

Special to Post-Crescent. Kimberley—Sheiks copped from Vic's Frenchmen, 16-14, in an exciting battle featured by four overtime periods, Saturday morning in the Kimberley Boys' Saturday Morning loop. The score at the end of the regular playing time was an 8-8 tie and in each successive overtime period each squad scored a basket. Running ten and Schwank were the big guns for the winners and Hopkins, Courchane and Bouressa starred for the losers. Le May's Buckeyes defeated Red's Aces in a tight scrap 16-13 in the second game.

Vander Zanden's Bears whipped Schness's Midgets 14-6 in the last game of the year. Rusty Wildcats defeated Hopkins Stars in a close game 3-0 in the junior loop.

ALL BIG TEN CAGERS BUT MICH SEE ACTION

Chicago. —(AP)—All the Big Ten basketball teams but Michigan get back into action this week after a pause for mid-winter examinations. The Wolverines do not risk their position at the top of the heap for another week.

Ohio, Slipping, and Illinois, climbing, meet at Urbana Monday night in their second match. The Buckeyes gave Illinois a one-point defeat early in the season which started the Illinois slump. Ohio crumbled before Iowa Saturday night, 39 to 25, while Illinois took another fall out of Minnesota, 36 to 27.

Minnesota Monday night will try for the ninth time this season to get into the win column, facing Indiana at Bloomington. The Indians upset at the hands of Chicago Saturday night, 27 to 21 has roused the fading hopes of the Gobblers.

All the teams except Michigan and Minnesota have games next Saturday night. Michigan will resume play Feb. 15 against Purdue.

NORTHWESTERN BANKS ON BIG FOUR IN TRACK ATHLETICS

Northwestern looks for big things in track the coming season. The tie for the football championship with Michigan has been an inspiration to all other forms of sport. Above are four of Northwestern's most versatile performers. Frank Reynolds and Cap Turley are crack middle distance runners. Albert Bagge puts the shot and Bob Tannehill stars in the sprints and hurdles.

JOLLY FIVE GIRLS 2ND IN STATE MEET

Appleton Pingirls Roll 2,335 Score to Place on Heels of Leaders

Jolly Five girls of the Tuttle Press Co., rolling a score of 2,335, placed second over the weekend in the Wisconsin State Women's bowling tournament being rolled at Green Bay. Beloit's Recreationalists of Milwaukee shot into first place with a 2,454 score. The Cream City squad opened with an 834 and the addle a 879, finished with the high mark.

Two Milwaukee teams, the Phoenix Hoisery and Lumberjack Bros. are in third and fourth places respectively with totals of 2,224 and 2,218. The Arcades of Fond du Lac, who led the procession for a while, are now sitting in fifth place.

Only mediocre scores were shot by the tourney contestants "in the doubles and singles on the early shifts Sunday. The tournament officials expect some first division scores to be rolled on Monday night when the Ziegler Chocolates and several other crack Milwaukee teams are scheduled to perform.

THREE TEAMS TIE FOR 2ND IN KIMBERLY LOOP

Kimberley—Moderson's Lumberjacks, Bouressa's—Sidney's Swedes, and Schwank's Fast Five went into a triple tie for second place Friday evening in the Kimberley Friday Evening basketball league. The Swedes swamped the Fast Five by a 21 to 12 score and the Lumberjacks were defeated by the league leaders, Courchane's Terrible Frenchmen in a double overtime period battle, 14-12.

In the first game the Swedes had easy going throughout and led 8-3 at the half. Bouressa starred for the winners with six baskets.

Schwank was high scorer for the Fast Five with three baskets and two free throws.

In the second game the Frenchmen led 12-9 at the half but during the last quarter the Lumberjacks scored three points while holding the Frenchies scoreless. In the first overtime period both squads failed to score but in the second period a basket by Courchane gave the Frenchies the victory and their sixth straight win. Willis with two baskets and Courchane and Gossens each scored three baskets and Natrop two and a free throw for the Lumberjacks.

JACK RECOVERING FROM POISONING

Former Champ Halted in Training for Gene by Scratch on Finger.

Los Angeles. —(AP)—Jack Dempsey, who is confined to his bed at his home here with blood poisoning, was believed to be on the road to recovery Monday.

His physician, Dr. A. Clark, late Sunday night declared that the danger period probably would be passed Monday.

The poisoning is said to have started from a slight scratch on the middle finger of his left hand last week while Dempsey and his wife, Estelle Taylor, the film actress were on a motor trip to San Francisco. Dempsey was to have started for his mountain camp Tuesday to begin training for his effort to regain the heavyweight title which he lost to Gene Tunney, but the poisoning has caused at least temporary abandonment of that program. The former champion was reported improving Sunday night.

ORANGE SECONDS WIN 7TH IN ROW AT OSHKOSH

Lead by Catlin at center and Schaefer, guard, who starred on defense, Coach Leland Delforge's Appleton high school second team conquered the Oshkosh high seconds Friday evening at Oshkosh for their seventh consecutive win of the season without a defeat. The Orangemen, won 14-7 though they beat Oshkosh here in the conference opener by a much closer margin.

The Orange seconds now have two victories over Oshkosh, two over Neenah, one over Manitowish and two over the Roosevelt junior high of Appleton, 1926 junior champs. If the Delforge crew beats the second teams of W. Green Bay twice, E. Green Bay and Marinette in future games it can claim the second team title of the Valley conference.

CRACK PRO CAGERS WHO PLAY HERE TO SEEK HIGH HONORS

Swendson Fords, Here on Thursday, Desire National Pro Cage Title

SWENDSON'S RECORD: Fords 37, New London 12. Fords 30, New York Nationals 19. Fords 31, Clintonville 11. Fords 19, Beloit Fairies 15. Fords 41, Melville 26. Fords 29, Capper-Capper 17. Fords 32, Flint, Mich. 17. Fords 25, Boston White Wings 23. Fords 36, Chicago Big Five 27.

National professional cage honors are being sought this season by the Swendson Fords of Milwaukee. Wisconsin's leading pro cage squad, which plays here Thursday evening at Armory G, against Basing's Sports. The Fords have beaten the strong teams in Wisconsin, Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan and New York so far this year in their fight for national honors and are undefeated in 10 games. Clarence M. Rogers, general manager of E. A. Swendson, Inc., and also manager of the cage squad was born and raised in Appleton and he guarantees to bring the full strength of the Swendson team here for his old friends to view and enjoy.

In bringing the Fords here the Sports are attempting to give folks of Appleton and surrounding burghs, who are lovers of basketball, the best that can be had as the Fords are paid the biggest guarantee for any pro cage team ever brought here. Appleton is fortunate to get them at this date as several state cities have been trying to book the squad. The Fords are classed as the strongest five Wisconsin has ever seen, losing but one game in two years.

The Fords have a short passing attack which no team has yet been able to solve. The Appleton team is in daily practice and is working hard to give the Fords their best battle of the year and win if possible. The advance ticket sale for the game indicates a large crowd at Armory G and the best seats are going fast. Tickets are on sale at Basing's Sport shop.

WOMAN CONQUERS CATALINA CHANNEL

Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston, Is First of Sex to Finish Hard Swim

Long Beach, Calif. —(AP)—"A pot of gold," the means of giving her 11-year old son an education, Monday appeared within the reach of Mrs. Myrtle Huddleston as a result of her courageous and successful swimming of the Catalina Channel. She was the first woman swimmer to negotiate the 20 odd miles passage which separates Santa Catalina Island from California's mainland.

Mrs. Huddleston, 30, former resident of Mattson, Ill., completed for no prize in her swim, but she expects to realize a large revenue from motion pictures, vaudeville and advertising contracts as a result of her conquest. The fruits of her victory, she says, will be used to send her boy, Everett, through school.

Mrs. Huddleston, who learned to swim less than a year ago, triumphed over adverse tides, chilling waters and fog to cross the waterway in 20 hours and 42 minutes. Even the attacks of a savage barracuda fish failed to stop her and at 11:14 o'clock Sunday morning she touched bottom at Point Vicente. Her attempt started at 9:42 Saturday afternoon from the isthmus of the island.

As the goal hove in sight Mrs. Huddleston in near-delirium, was spurred on by her son who called to her from a convoying rowboat: "Come on mamma, don't give up."

When she was helped out of the water after finishing the final quarter mile she was in a state of semi-coma. She collapsed when lifted into the boat. Her left side was paralyzed.

About her arms and body were bites and bruises received in her battle with the barracuda which had attacked her when she was midway across the channel.

Monday Mrs. Huddleston rested in her apartment under a nurse's care. She said she felt no ill effects from her swim.

HORTONVILLE HIGHS SWAMP WINNECONNE

Hortonville—Friday night the Hortonville high school squad had little difficulty in trimming Winneconne, 41-11. The local boys took the lead early in the game and were ahead 21-4 at the half. The visitors secured only three field goals during the game. Heltterhoff led the Hortonville attack with 14 points while Captain Mace scored 12. Holtz was high man for Winneconne with 4 points.

STIRBLING TO GET HEAVYWEIGHT TEST

New York. —(AP)—Young Stirlingbly one time sensation of the light heavyweight ranks, will carry his hope of world recognition in the heavyweight class to Madison Square garden Monday night. He will pit his speed and punching skill, now encased in a husky 185 pound frame against Sailor Edie Hufman of California for ten rounds in the first match of a heavyweight series scheduled to disclose a challenger for Gene Tunney next September.

Although Stirlingbly previously defeated Hufman in a decision contest in Los Angeles, the Pacific coast puncher is a fast and aggressive battler, amply qualified to test Stirlingbly's heavyweight aspirations.

R. Boves of Madison rolling on a Sunday afternoon shift, collected games of 200, 203, and 287 for 690 and swept into second place in the singles class. Boves scores of 287 was recorded thus: Ten straight strikes, then

Kaukauna Pinmen Take Lead In State Classic

By Rolling 2992 Mark

Minkebig Tumbles 661 Marples to Lead 1920 State Champs to First

Racine. —(AP)—Heavy bombardment of the ten pins over the week end by leggers from all corners of Wisconsin, resulted in a complete change among the leaders. Remembering the glory that was theirs in 1920, the Electric City five of Kaukauna crashed into first place in the five-man event on the 830 shift Sunday night with a 2992 total. Led by H. Minkebig, who tumbled 661 pins, the Kaukaunas registered games of 1062, 938, 992.

The Electric, rolling in 1920 as the Gantier-Bedets won the state championship on a score of 2836 at Manitowish. The mark of the electric City five is one that will stand considerable buffering if winning scores of the past years are taken into account. In 25 years of association tournaments the total of the leaders has been exceeded but three times.

Second, third fourth and fifth places in the five-man event were occupied by new teams after Saturday and Sunday nights orgy of pin smashing. Mac's Bakery of De Pere took heart from the performance of the Electric and moved into second place on a count of 2925 made on games of 904, 1025 and 995. The Hotel LaCrosse team of LaCrosse, rolling on the same shift moved into fourth place with a 2897 count on games of 901, 957 and 1039. The Gruen Watches of Delavan, rolling on the 1030 shift Monday night, swept into third place with a 2920 total on games of 1010, 917, 993.

Sunday's four top notchers displaced the Collins brothers Lumber five of Hartford who had rolled it to first place on the last shift Saturday night with a 2892 count. The Hartford team is now in fifth place.

F. Grevenow and F. Greshmeier of Kenosha crashed into first place in the two man event Saturday afternoon when they toppled the maples for a count 1266. R. and E. Hartzheim of Juneau grabbed off a 1244 total in this division Sunday morning to move into second place. A. Yagodzinski and J. Goodwin of Beaver Dam went into third place with a 1238 count. C. Banse of Milwaukee, made a bold bid for the individual championship of the classic Saturday when he scored 725 on games of 255, 234, and 236. The Milwaukeean has a firm grip in this division for in all state history that mark has only been passed twice in the annual tournament.

R. Boves of Madison rolling on a Sunday afternoon shift, collected games of 200, 203, and 287 for 690 and swept into second place in the singles class. Boves scores of 287 was recorded thus: Ten straight strikes, then a split on his 11th ball and he got also pins. He came within two pins of entering the bowlers hall of fame because never in the history of state tournaments has an entrant rolled a perfect score.

R. Hieer, Delavan rolling on the 8 o'clock shift Sunday swept his way into third place in the singles with a 680 count. R. Hartzheim, Juneau, is now leading in the all events with a total of 1914. C. Banse, of Milwaukee is perched in second place with a 1855 total and R. Hieer of Delavan is third with a 1855 total.

The appearance of the LaCrosse 60's was one of the features of Sunday's bombardment of the ten pins. All members of the 60's are over 50 years of age. When they took the drives they were introduced in a speech by state secretary William Fenske. Every member of team rolled in the first state tournament 25 years ago and they have been attending ever since.

Wott, who led his team with 597, was the first secretary of the Wisconsin Bowling association. C. Hunt 69, is the oldest member of the squad. Monday is meeting day and at a meeting Monday afternoon election of the site of the 1926 classic will be made.

Little Eva: "No, Uncle Tom."

Uncle Tom: "Does you see any pos-sum?"

Little Eva: "Not one possum, Uncle Tom."

Uncle Tom: "Does you see any water-cmelon?"

Little Eva: "No, not a single water-melon."

Uncle Tom: "Den good-bye, Little Eva. Uncle Tom ain't goin' to see yo'."

THE LIMERICK MERRY-GO-ROUND Admission Ticket of Chaz' WE WILL 'RIDE' ANYTHING YOU BRING

Dear Mr. Judell: In our neigh-borhood there is a gloomy old mansion occupied by a bachelor named Wyatt No one ever sees or hears a thing of him. Please tune in on that with a limerick!

Dear Mr. K: It's a funny neigh-bor when a fellow gets razzed for being a quiet neighbor! However, here goes— There was an old batch surmised Wy-att Who kept so infernally quiet That once when he sneezed The cop came and seized Him and asked, "Hey, hey! Where's the riot?"

Dear M. F. J. My boy friend has a tin lizzie, and like all others, it's a bit shaky. I wish he'd get something else. Can you help me out with a limerick?

Dear Trudy: Spring this on him— While sleeping, a young miss named Rivers Was seized with a strange fit of shiv-ers: The doctor came quick— But the girl wasn't sick— She dreamed she was riding in fliv-ers!"

TOWNSNEW LONDON FIVE
DROPS FAST GAME
TO KAUKAUNA, 21-10

Red and White Squad Has Difficulty in Getting Used to Low Ceiling

Special to Post-Crescent.
New London — Playing a hard fast game of basketball New London's high school team lost its second game to Kaukauna, high school at Kaukauna on Saturday evening 21 to 10. The game was called late to allow city business men to attend and the lads played before a good crowd.

Both teams played well and their teamwork was splendid. The Kaukauna boys had a distinct advantage over the local lads in the perfect understanding of the ball in which they played. The low ceiling made it difficult for the Red and White boys to locate the basket.

JURY TO DECIDE IF LOT CONTRACT CAN BE BROKEN

Case of Buchholz vs Nines Opens Monday Morning in Municipal Court

Whether persons who bought lots last summer in Lake Park reserve from Buchholz Properties, Inc. can break their contracts will be decided by a jury in the Municipal court, probably Monday afternoon, in the case of P. R. Buchholz vs Richard P. Nines, Appleton. The case opened Monday morning and was expected to go to the jury in the afternoon.

Mr. Buchholz, president of Buchholz Properties, Inc., suing Mr. Nines for $29 for back payments on a lot sold to the defendant. The purchase price was $249, but according to the terms of the contract, the purchase price could be paid in $1 down and $1 a week until the contract was cancelled. Mr. Nines has failed to make any payments for 20 weeks and has refused to do so, the plaintiff alleges. A garnishment action recently was started.

The defendant alleges that contract for the sale of the lot was procured by misrepresentation, and is seeking to have the contract annulled. The agents of the land company represented that the lot would be annexed to the city of Appleton; that sewers and water mains would be installed at once; that streets and other improvements would be commenced without delay; that the building of houses would be under way in a short time; and that the plat would be modern, improved in a first class manner and increase in value over the purchase price.

The land company failed to make good its representations, and the plaintiffs are seeking to have the contract annulled. The defendant claims that the lot is of little or no value, the defendant contends.

The jury in the case consists of Walter Krueger, 218 W. Winnebago; Charles A. Spurling, 916 W. Winnebago; Earl E. Lutz, 522 N. Vine; Louis Stoenen, 1012 E. Jefferson; Elmer Cole, 1311 S. Law-st.

WANTOWOC-CO BOARD RESOLUTIONS RECEIVED

Two resolutions adopted last fall by the county board of Manitowoc were received Monday by John D. Hantschel, county clerk, from the Manitowoc board of supervisors at its meeting next week, commencing Tuesday, Feb. 15. Both are petitions to the state legislature.

One asks the legislature to increase indemnity paid for loss of life found to result to tuberculosis from $40 to $50 per head. The present indemnity is not enough to replace cattle lost through the tests, it is pointed out.

The other seeks to have the legislature abolish the mothers' pension.

AWAIT WORD FOR MEETING WITH SHOE PLANT HEAD

Word was received by Mayor A. C. Rule Monday morning that M. T. Shaw of the Shaw Shoe company of Racine, was traveling through the south but would return to Wisconsin to meet with the mayor to make plans for a meeting here with the industrial committee of the common council.

It had been planned to hold the meeting this week but Mayor Rule is leaving for Madison Tuesday where he will attend a special meeting of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities. He will not return until late in the week and it is possible that the meeting will not be held until next week.

WERNER TO TALK AT CHURCH NIGHT SUPPER

Good will overcome hate and sin was the theme of the moving picture shown at the address at the Sunday evening services of the First Congregational church. The picture was adapted from Hall Caine's novel "The Bondman".

The story began in hate and revenge and ended with the hero giving his life for the people who had wronged him. Dr. J. E. Peabody, pastor of the church, followed the picture with a talk based on this plot. He took an optimistic point of view of the outcome of evil in the world. The sacrifice of the hero's life is an echo of the cross of Christ, the pastor said. The service closed with the singing of the hymn, "In the Cross of Christ Our Glory Lies".

About 500 members of the church were present. Dr. Peabody announced that the picture on Sunday evening, Feb. 12, would be "The Only Way," a story based on the French Revolution. In two weeks the chorus choir of the church will present the cantata, "Queen Esther" at the Sunday evening services. Carl J. Waterman, director of the choir will be in charge of the program.

The Law, a Tale of Reason, will be given at an address by Judge Edgar Y. Werner at the weekly church night supper Thursday evening, the pastor announced.

COMMITTEE OPENS BIDS ON NEW CLOCK SYSTEM

A meeting of the illegal tax committee of the county board will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Feb. 11, at the courthouse. The county and city committee met at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. Besides allowing bids, on an electric clock system proposed for installation in the courthouse were to be opened.

All Around Wisconsin

Rock river has risen two feet above normal late Saturday and was still showing a slight rise. Flood conditions were reported in several sections of Janesville. In the Spring Brook section, which is low, and in the Rock River section, which is high, many streets and yards were under water in places. Mild weather, melting snow and release of large quantities of water from Lake Koshkonong by melting of ice, were given as the reasons for the heavy increase of flow in the river.

A 2-day drizzle, which left the ice of

KNUTSON SPEAKER AT 1ST MEETING OF SAFETY SCHOOL

Expect 200 Foremen of Valley Mills Will Register for Classes

R. G. Knutson of the Wisconsin Industrial Commission at Madison will be the speaker at the first general meeting of the Foremen Safety School in the Knights of Pythias hall at 7:30 Wednesday evening. The school is sponsored by the Appleton Vocational school, the industrial commission, Appleton Chamber of Commerce, and industries of Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha and Appleton.

More than 155 registrations have been received from foremen in the valley. It is expected that the number will grow to more than 200, according to H. G. Noyes, director of the paper and pulp making classes. The classes are to be held at the Knights of Pythias hall because of lack of room at the vocational school. Mr. Noyes is the general secretary of the school.

Herb Jellitz, director of the vocational school, will give an address at the first meeting in which he will explain the purpose of the school. The school is divided into three sections, paper and pulp, metal and electrical, and public utility. Each of the sections will hold separate meetings, and the entire group will attend three general meetings.

E. H. Jennings, president of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, is general chairman and he will preside at the opening meeting. Sectional chairmen are H. G. Noyes of the paper and pulp, E. B. Morse of the Haydon Pump and Blower company, metal; W. G. Gieseler of Appleton Wood Products company, wood working; W. E. Schubert of the W. T. L. H. Co. public utilities.

The second general meeting will be held on Monday. Between the first and second meetings each section will conduct two meetings for the members of that section only. After the second general meeting and before the final gathering, the section will conduct two more separate meetings.

The final meeting of the school will be held on Wednesday. Between the final and second meetings each section will conduct two meetings for the members of that section only. After the second general meeting and before the final gathering, the section will conduct two more separate meetings.

16,000 BILLS ALREADY INTRODUCED IN CONGRESS

Washington, D.C.—There have been something like 16,000 bills introduced this session of Congress, of which about $,000 have gone to the committee on invalid pensions and approximately 1,100 to the committee on public buildings and grounds—both of which committees are considered of rather minor importance. Representative Richard N. Elliott of Indiana is chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds and has been acting chairman of the committee on invalid pensions since the death of the late Representative Fuller of Illinois. So, Mr. Elliott has had his share of work in handling these two big batches of bills.

Representative Elliott is a member of the committee on public buildings and grounds and has been acting chairman of the committee on invalid pensions since the death of the late Representative Fuller of Illinois. So, Mr. Elliott has had his share of work in handling these two big batches of bills.

STUDY CLASSE RECORDS IN SCHOOL SPIRIT RACE

School spirit records of the three classes at Appleton high school for the first half of the school year were presented by three representatives of the classes at a general assembly meeting at the school Friday afternoon. The leaders for the sophomore and junior classes were elected at meetings of the classes, and senior representatives were selected by faculty sponsors at formal tryouts.

The faculty school spirit committee headed by Miss Minnie Smith will meet this week to decide the ratings of the classes. The ratings will be announced at a general assembly meeting Thursday afternoon, it was stated.

CUT AWAY ICE SO CITY STREETS CAN BE DRAINED

The street department was opening drain sewers in the city today to allow flood waters to drain off. Two steam machines were being used. A high pressure is obtained and the steam is used to melt away the ice in the drains. Other members of the street department crew were distributing sand and ashes on sidewalks and hills to prevent accidents, according to R. F. Hackworth, street commissioner.

MUSIC AND SPEAKER ON P-T CLUB PROGRAM

Musical numbers and an address have been planned for the meeting of the First Ward Parent Teachers association at 7:30 Monday evening at the school. The name of the speaker and his subject will not be announced until the time of the meeting. Clinton Schmidt, James Murphy, Howard Lueders, Miss Maxine Goeres, and Franklin La Ferre will appear on the musical program.

EXAMINE 12 PERSONS AT FREE CHEST CLINIC

Twelve persons were examined at the free chest clinic sponsored by the Appleton Womens club at the clubhouse Saturday afternoon. Dr. C. D. ## TARDY STUDENTS ARE VISITED BY TRUANT OFFICER

School Attendance Law Is Explained to Erring Boys and Girls

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. J. G. Pfeil, city truant officer and Herb Heitz, director of the Appleton Vocational school believes in dealing with the girls and boys of the vocational school.

A new method of checking the habitual tardy and absent students has been devised by Mr. Heitz and is being carried out by Mr. Pfeil. This probably is the first school in the state with this program of meeting with the students.

Mr. Pfeil spends from one to two hours each day at the school. Names of students who are habitually absent or tardy are submitted to the truant officer and he has a private conference with each student. In this interview, Mr. Pfeil explains the law to the erring boy or girl. He points out that the purpose of the law is not to interfere in any way with the youth earning his own living, but rather it is the intention of the law to aid the student by giving him free education in whatever line of work he is following.

SELLS EDUCATION
"The plan is an effective piece of selling education to the boys and girls," said Mr. Heitz. "It is being done in a way that probably could not be equalled by any other method."

The students are shown that their cooperation is necessary for them to receive the best education possible and that by working with the school authorities rather than against them, they are helping their own cause.

Mr. Pfeil keeps a record of boys and girls in the city of school age. After he receives the names of those enrolled in the fall, he checks his original list and usually he finds a number of young men and women who are not attending any school. It is then necessary for him to make personal calls at the homes of these young people to make them.

The vocational school and the truant officer are often misunderstood. Mr. Heitz said, "Many parents think we are the cause of their children losing their positions. This is not true. The law may cause them to lose their jobs, when they are not old enough to hold such positions, and the school and the truant officer are merely carrying out the law. They have no alternative. That is their duty."

WORKED AT NIGHT
Mr. Heitz cited the instance of a girl, 17 years of age, who was working on a shift in a local restaurant. It was learned the girl had not been attending school regularly, and it was disclosed that she often worked from 9 o'clock in the evening until 2 in the morning.

After quitting work at 2 o'clock the girl was obliged to walk to her home alone, about 1 1/2 miles from the place where she worked. When her employer was told that she was too young to hold such a job he explained that the girl had told him she was 19 years. She lost her job and her father immediately called the vocational school and accused the principal of having the girl "fired."

Mr. Heitz explained that he knew nothing of the case but that the law had merely interfered and if the employer had kept the girl he would have been liable to a fine.

COMMITTEE WILL MAKE PLANS FOR BOYS' WEEK

Plans for cooperation in Boys' Week, which will be held in Appleton from Feb. 15 to 20, will be made by members of the retail trades committee of the chamber of commerce at a meeting at the chamber office at 9:30 Tuesday morning. Local merchants will cooperate by trimming their windows, and by advertising the week. Routine business will complete the meeting.

APPLETON GIRLS PASS PROBATIONARY TESTS

FAVORS CHANGING ELECTION SYSTEM

Bill Would Abolish Party Circle, Making Voter Check All Names

Madison—(AP)—Arthur A. Hitt, teacher and assemblyman of Ains, is author of a bill to be presented in the lower house of the legislature changing the entire system of electing officers in Wisconsin. The bill would abolish the party circle, making the voter check the name of each of the candidates for whom he wishes to vote.

Instead of the present party tickets used in the primary, all candidates' names would be listed on a ballot, with party designations. The same would apply in the general election. The two receiving the highest votes in the primary, instead of the party nominees, would be the ones placed on the general election ballots, and the general election lists would be limited to two candidates for each office, thereby prohibiting "independent" candidates.

If, in the primary, one candidate received a majority of all votes cast, he would be declared elected, eliminating a second contest in the general election, after races have been settled in the primary. This would allow candidates for minor offices, such as assessor, to be elected in the primary, without a second uncontested vote on the name.

"Abolition of the party circle will

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)
